REFERENCE WORKSHOP—About 40 school and public librarians attended the one-day Reference Workshop for Children held Wednesday at the Pickaway County District Public Library, which was chosen because of its large reference collection. The workshop, sponsored by the Ohio Valley Area Libraries, featured speakers Jane McGregor, president-elect of the Ohio Library Assn., and Judy Young, OVAL Adult Services Specialists. Librarians learned how to better serve the children of their areas by using tools available in the libraries, how to select books for youngsters, and how to purchase and use the best possible materials.

EPA Plan To Hurt Consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Air pollution regulations that some utilities officials say could result in higher costs to consumers have been proposed for Ohio by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The regulations, presented Wednesday to the Ohio EPA, cover the discharge of sulfur dioxide—a gas emitted when fuels such as coal are burned.

The regulations vary for different counties in the state, but industries and utilities in those counties most affected probably would have to install special equipment or buy coal with a low-sulfur content in order to meet the requirements, EPA officials said.

Officials of some utilities say the extra expense eventually will be passed on to consumers.

Donald Maddox, an official with the EPA's regional office in Chicago, said that Ohio has no comprehensive regulations on emission of sulfur dioxide from smokestacks.

EPA will issue the final regulations after it hears the state's response to the measures. Public hearings also will be held in four Ohio cities. A hearing in Cleveland is tentatively scheduled for December.

The regulations are expected to generate considerable interest from utility companies. Raymond Kudukis, director of the Cleveland utilities department, said the city's municipal light plant burns coal with a sulfur content slightly over 2 per cent. The new regulations propose that the plant use coal with a sulfur content of 1.4 per cent or less.

He said such a requirement would entail purchase of expensive coal with a low-sulfur content. "But all the other power generating facilities would be looking for the same coal. You would have a very drastic increase in the price of that coal and obviously, because of fuel adjustment clauses, a drastic increase in the price of electricity."

Jack Wunderle, state director of air pollution control, said he thought there was "substantial overkill" in the proposed regulations. He added that clean air standards are not being met in Cuyahoga, Jefferson, Trumbull, Mahoning and Lucas counties.

Arthur M. Merims, the public information manager of the Cleveland Illuminating Co., called the regulations, "unrealistic, unnecessary and unjustified." He said his company will present that view at the hearings. Merims added the high cost of desulfurization systems would ultimately have to be paid by customers.

Thirty-three Ohio counties are not covered by the EPA regulations. But the standards would require plants in 55 counties to use a fuel with a sulfur content ranging from .75 per cent to 4.7 per cent, depending on the plant.

Homeowners Urged To Conserve Gas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new natural gas conservation program by Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc. will ask homeowners to keep thermostats at 67 degrees this winter.

"Columbia has begun to develop a new conservation program or a change in emphasis in the thrust of its existing program," said James L. Fullin, counsel for the gas firm.

"In addition to soliciting again this year the help of local public officials, an effort will be made to further sensitize the residential customers through the aid and assistance of local chambers of commerce, business and professional groups and the local news media," he said.

Columbia, the state's major natural gas supplier, expects to cut all gas this winter to industrial boilers using one million or more cubic feet of the colorless, odorless fuel monthly. It is awaiting approval of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Nonboiler industrial consumption would be curtailed at least 65 per cent under the curtailment proposal and major commercial users would be cut 40 per cent.

Columbia and the state's energy agency originally asked homeowners to keep thermostats at 68 degrees this winter, the same temperature as last year.

Fullin said the utility is forming an ad hoc task force to pep up the conservation program before this winter.

In the past, he said, Columbia has cut residential gas consumption by 5 to 7 per cent annually.

The firm had been criticized by John Borrows, utility director of the PUCO, for showing a "somewhat disappointing" residential conservation record. It was Borrows who recommended Columbia start a vigorous campaign with public agencies, private business and civic associations to promote conservation.

Despite Columbia's move, the Ohio Manufacturers Association urged the PUCO to extend gas curtailments to residential users.

"If the utility is faced with a crisis of the proportions which it alleges, then the plan to be approved by the commission should affect all sales and every customer of the company," the association said.

Fullin said residential curtailment is impractical because of the utility's 40 per cent annual turnover in residential customers, different patterns of consumption by each consumer and difficulty in penalizing low income customers who can't afford home improvements.

"Columbia has studied the possibility of a mandatory (residential curtailment) system and is continuing to study it," Fullin said.

Renewed Lebanese Fighting Costs Lives Of At Least 26

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Private armies of Christians and Moslems battled in the streets of Beirut today as Premier Rashid Karami again sought Syrian mediation from President Hafez Assad in Damascus.

Unofficial estimates of casualties in the past 24 hours ranged up to 60 dead and more than 200 wounded.

A heavy rainfall, the first of the season, stilled the gunfire for 40 minutes shortly after dawn. But street fighting resumed as the sun rose.

"Armed men are everywhere," Beirut Radio announced. "All roads are closed. There is no change in the situation."

Machinegun battles raged in several residential areas. Sniper fire and bomb blasts terrorized suburbs outside the main combat zones.

Fires started in Wednesday's battles burned out of control until the arrival of 12 fire engines from Syria to help hardpressed Lebanese crews.

Government sources said Karami left for Damascus before dawn in a last-ditch attempt to "Arabize" the Lebanese conflict with mediation from other governments.

Syria had sent Foreign Minister

Abdul Halim Khaddam to mediate in the last round of sectarian fighting here, resulting in a temporary ceasefire that ended after the Moslem feast of Eid el Fitr.

Late Wednesday night, Karami expressed support for a Kuwaiti proposal to convene an urgent conference of Arab foreign ministers to discuss the Lebanese situation.

In the bloodiest incident of Wednesday's day-long action, a mortar shell ripped into a crowd of worried citizens who had gathered at a bakery to stock up on bread, killing 14 and injuring more than 25.

Rocket-propelled grenades and mortar shells set several fires in the Moslem suburb of Chiyah, and the Christian stronghold of Ashrafieh also was shelled heavily.

Black smoke drifted over the downtown area from a huge blaze in the port area and fires broke out at a nearby marketplace containing dozens of shops.

Renewed fighting also broke out between Moslems in the northern port of Tripoli and Christians from the neighboring town of Zagharta. Reports listed one dead and 24 wounded.

Natural Gas Plan Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A looming natural gas shortage may start forcing as many as a half million Americans out of work in a matter of weeks unless Congress and the Ford administration can reach a compromise on national energy policy.

Congressional testimony has indicated some 500,000 workers may be out of jobs when the anticipated natural gas shortage hits this winter. There are predictions the layoffs could begin soon after Nov. 1.

No one in Congress has challenged the prediction, but neither Republicans nor Democrats in the Senate have indicated willingness to budge from their positions on energy pricing — the issue that has put the Democratic-controlled Congress at odds with President Ford for almost nine months.

Each side has its own proposed solution for the gas shortage forecast for 14 states this winter. The Federal Power Commission says either bill could help reduce the shortage to manageable proportions.

Republicans are seeking an end to all price controls on natural gas. They say ending controls would increase the price and therefore the supply of gas available to the 14 threatened states.

Democrats have pushed for emergency legislation that would permit gas-short states to buy gas directly from gas-producing states, mainly Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, for about $1.25 per unit. That price is almost 150 per cent above the current controlled price.

But Republicans, with the President's blessing, have refused to consider the emergency legislation except as part of their effort to eliminate price controls on natural gas permanently.

Democrats are refusing to allow a vote, saying elimination of price controls would bring the oil-gas industry a bonanza and worsen inflation and unemployment. They note House leaders say there is no chance of passing a long-range gas bill in the House this year.

An attempted compromise was defeated Wednesday.

By a 55 to 45 vote the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., that would have let the well price of gas rise sharply over the next five years, with oil prices reduced during the same period. At the end of five years, the President could have, with congressional approval, modified the price controls or removed them altogether.

In general, Republicans say price controls have created gas shortages by denying the petroleum industry money needed to develop more energy. Democrats generally agree that prices should be allowed to rise somewhat — but not to the level that might be expected if controls were eliminated.

The proposal was rejected after the Senate, on a surprisingly close 54 to 45 vote, defeated an amendment by Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., seeking to break the nation's largest oil and gas companies into numerous smaller firms.

The shortage is expected to be greatest in 14 states, which have nearly six million workers whose jobs are dependent on natural gas. These states are Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky, West Virginia, Delaware, Missouri, Iowa and California.

Federal Action To Gain Railroad Taxes Promoted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the delinquent funds are sorely needed by local governments and school districts, Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, has introduced legislation to speed up payment of property taxes owed by bankrupt railroads.

The measure would allow the federal government to act as a property tax collection agent for state and local taxing districts. In effect, the federal government would purchase the debts from local governments, providing them directly with the needed funds.

In the bankruptcy hearings, the federal government would press its claim against the bankrupt estates, retaining the prior lien rights of the state and local taxing districts.

"In Cleveland alone, bankrupt railroads—principally Penn Central—owed $10.6 million to local taxing districts as of mid-year, and the total for all of Cuyahoga County was more than $12 million," Taft said.

"This nonpayment pattern is repeated in 74 of Ohio's 88 counties and the local taxpayer is having to bear the burden."

Taft noted that because of the lengthy and complex legal proceedings resulting from the bankruptcy actions, state and local taxing districts have been unable for five years to collect property taxes owed them by Penn Central.

"There is at this point no end in sight," Taft said. "There is no time toward which these communities can look with certainty to receive the revenue owed them."

"This money owed by bankrupt railroads is vitally needed," he said. "It is needed by our schools, our counties, our cities and our villages, and by the local taxpayers who must support them."

Taft said the federal government contributed to the railroads' problems by over-regulating them and now should accept the responsibility of helping communities that have been hurt.

In Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Auditor George Voinovich claimed credit for the idea, saying he had exhausted local efforts to collect about $15 million in back taxes from bankrupt railroads like the Penn Central and Erie Lackawanna.

Voinovich said at a news conference Wednesday he met with federal officials on the problem in July. "I literally pushed the panic button and told the group that the constantly growing railroad tax delinquency could be solved only through federal action."

If the Taft bill became law, it would mean $7 million for Cleveland schools, $3 million for the city and $2.5 million for the county, the auditor said. He said the railroads' delinquency was growing at about $3 million a year and accounted for about half the back taxes owed in the county.

Voinovich said if the government had forced the railroads to pay their taxes, some communities would not have been forced to raise taxes.

United Nations Employees Held Hostage

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Armed Latin American refugees held five United Nations officials and employees under threat of death today, but Argentine officials agreed to let them leave the country if they find somewhere to go.

The group, said to consist of Chileans and at least one Brazilian, burst into the offices of the U.N. High Commission for Refugees at midday Wednesday, demanding that the United Nations take the refugees to another country because they said they were destitute in Argentina.

The group spokesman mentioned Sweden and Belgium but said the refugees would go to any democratic country that would receive them.

In Geneva, the high commissioner of the U.N. refugee organization, Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, said he had asked Sweden, Denmark and a third, unnamed country whether they were willing to take the group in Argentina but so far had received no reply.

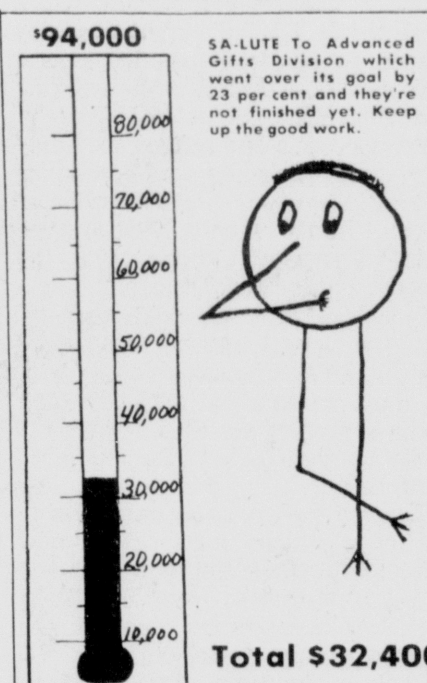

"We deplore the use of force and violence, but this will bring the plight of refugees to public attention," the prince told the commission's executive board.

The U.N. authorities in Geneva said they understood there were nine refugees, including a Brazilian and eight Chileans, in the group in Argentina. But a spokesman for the group in Buenos Aires, who said he was a Brazilian, said there were "about a dozen" Chileans, including two women.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices forged ahead again today, spurred by a brighter outlook for New York City and a continued downtrend in interest rates.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.33 to 828.24, and issues gaining in price outstripped losers by more than a 2 to 1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said Wall Street continued to draw hope for Wednesday's statement by Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns, which indicated a crack in the federal government's previous solid opposition to aiding New York City.

But today, Treasury Secretary William Simon reiterated the Ford administration's opposition to such aid. Traders also were reported hopeful that the continued decline in short-term interest rates might lead major banks to cut their prime lending rates Friday.

The NYSE's composite stock index added 0.40 to 46.90, while the American Exchange's market value index was up 0.48 to 84.55.

Federal Milk Price Rules Said Causing High Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's anti-inflation agency is studying dairy industry prices after an economic analysis concluded that government regulation boosts milk prices by about 10 cents a half gallon.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability hasn't made up its mind yet about the validity of the analysis, which started as an economist's doctoral dissertation. Indeed, the Agriculture Department, which the analysis blamed primarily for the higher prices, has attacked the conclusions as based on false premises.

But Michael H. Moskow, the new director of the inflation-monitoring wage and price council, said in an interview Wednesday the agency has initiated a review of milk prices because milk is such an important product for American consumers.

The economic analysis found that the actual price for a halfgallon of milk in 38 of the 56 federal marketing areas during 1960 was 42.8 cents. The study estimated that with no regulation at all the price would have been 39.4 cents.

In those areas in 1970, milk cost 57.8 cents a half-gallon, but would have been 47.4 cents without price regulations, the analysis said.

Moskow said, "It is a very controversial issue. Once we have a better idea what the evidence shows, then I think we can see whether any policy action is appropriate."

The council can hold hearings on subjects and subpoena evidence. It has no power to order price rollbacks or changes in regulation, although its composition of top economic specialists gives it considerable political influence.

Moskow said the council is looking at federal and state regulations dealing with milk prices as well as the entire dairy industry.

One of the recent studies which attracted the council's interest was by John E. Kwoka Jr. He studied federal milk marketing orders while working toward his doctorate at the University of Pennsylvania and refined the study while assistant professor of economics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He recently went to work in the Bureau of Economics at the Federal Trade Commission.

Under federal milk marketing orders, the Department of Agriculture sets the minimum prices which farmers must receive for the milk they produce, according to whether it's finally used as table milk, cheese or dried milk.

The federal regulations, which amount to a floor under prices, now cover the 56 marketing areas around major metropolitan centers. Those marketing areas cover about 70 per cent of the nation's population.

Kwoka's analysis attempted to construct a price for milk assuming there was no regulation. Although his study did not specifically deal with retail price regulations in the 17 states with the authority to set such prices, Kwoka said in an interview his findings could fairly be applied to both state and federal regulations.

Kwoka said the effect of the federal regulation is to preserve inefficient milk producers while blocking expansion of market power by the most efficient milk producers, primarily those in the Minnesota-Wisconsin area.

Bayh Schedules Election Kickoff

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh is expected to make his heavily-orchestrated announcement of presidential ambitions Oct. 21.

First, there'll be a morning rally at his family farm near Shirkierville. The formal announcement putting Bayh into the already crowded field of Democrats will be made at noon in the Indiana House chamber. It was there that Bayh's political career began.

Bayh also will speak at an Indiana University rally in Bloomington and a fund-raising dinner in South Bend.

Bayh, 47, was elected to a third term in the Senate last November. He made a brief run for the presidential nomination in 1972 but withdrew after his wife underwent cancer surgery.

Deaths

MRS. GOLDA M. TOOPS

Mrs. Golda M. Toops, 85, formerly of Harrisburg, died Thursday morning at Madison County Hospital, London.

Born Feb. 27, 1890 in Fairfield County, she was the daughter of Francis and Margaret Immel Pope.

She was a retired employee of Orient State Institute.

Her husband, Ora Toops, preceded her in death in 1933.

Survivors include one son, Ralph G. Toops, Columbus; two daughters, Mrs. Don (Rachel) Morehart, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Malcolm (Bernice) Gunning, London; 23 grandchildren; several great-grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Porter funeral home in Mt. Sterling with the Rev. Willard King officiating. Burial will be in Pleasant Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 2 p.m. Friday and until time of service on Saturday.

MR. RALPH W. YOUNG

Mr. Ralph W. Young, 87, Route 1, Amanda, died 2 a.m. today at the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

Born April 26, 1888, in Fairfield County, he was the son of David and Louisa Phillips Young.

Survivors include six grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, one brother, Boyd A. Young, Amanda.

The funeral service will be 10 a.m. Saturday at the Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home with the Rev. Eugene Flowers officiating. Burial will be in the Reber Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Friday.

MR. JOHN I. (BO) KARR

Mr. John Iver (Bo) Karr, 66, Tarlton, died 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at his residence.

Born Nov. 28, 1908 in Pickaway County, he was the son of John and Mary Anna Seesholtz Karr.

He was a retired employee of International Harvester.

Survivors include his widow, Marie Moore Karr; one daughter, Pamela Ann Eveland, Route 1, Laurelville, one grandson; two brothers, Edgar, Laurelville; Marvin Amanda; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Dunkle and Mrs. Josephine Norman, both of Circleville; Mrs. Kate Hartman, Amanda; and Mrs. Louise Bartholomew.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. tonight.

Jury Chosen For 9 Men In Plant Blast

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Twelve jurors and four alternates were chosen Wednesday for the trial of nine men facing federal charges in the explosions and fire that destroyed the main Sponge Rubber Products plant in Shelton last March.

U.S. District Judge Jon Newman said he would continue hearing pretrial motions until the trial begins, expected next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The jury of 10 men and two women was picked by lot after an original list of 112 persons was cut to 50. Four alternate jurors are women.

Among other motions, defense attorneys have asked for the trial to be moved out of state and for separate trials for the defendants.

All but one of the 10 men indicted by a federal grand jury in the case have pleaded innocent.

On Tuesday, John Shaw, 28, of Pittsburgh changed his plea from innocent to guilty on charges of conspiracy and interstate travel to aid racketeering.

Judge Newman has ordered that Shaw, who officials said is expected to be a government witness against the other nine, be tried separately.

Among the remaining defendants are Charles D. Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, president of Sponge Rubber's parent firm, and the Rev. David N. Bubar of Memphis, Tenn.

Bubar, who claims to have psychic powers, has been a spiritual adviser to Moeller and had been at the factory for some time before the explosion March 1.

Police Officer's Death Being Investigated

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County police are investigating the fatal shooting of suburban Cheviot police officer Mark McClain, 23, whose body was discovered Wednesday in his Green Township apartment.

Lt. Harry Bode said there was "no foul play suspected."

Bode said authorities will try to learn if the shooting was accidental. McClain was believed shot with his own pistol, police said.

Six Defendants Granted Probation

Six men appearing in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday morning were granted probation. Three came before Judge William Ammer on motions for shock probation and the other three were brought before the court on charges of violation of formerly imposed probation regulations.

Raymond Reynolds, Danny Counts and Ernie Tisdale, all having been incarcerated in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men for 100 days, came before the court on motions for early release from their prison terms under the provisions of the shock probation statute.

Reynolds had originally been convicted of aggravated burglary, two counts of grand theft and one count of breaking and entering. Counts was serving prison terms on two counts of breaking and entering and two counts of grand theft.

Tisdale had been sentenced on charges of aggravated burglary and grand theft. All three men were released from further execution of their sentences and placed on probation for three years.

Brought before the court for failure to provide support for minor children and violation of probation was John Carroll. The court continued him on probation but stipulated that he remain in custody until the court was provided with written proof that the defendant had steady employment. The court also stipulated that the employer must agree to have a portion of Carroll's pay deducted for his support payments.

Carroll was represented in court by local attorney James R. Kingsley. The state of Ohio was represented by county prosecutor Richard Gerhardt.

Danny Brungs appeared on charges of petit theft and violation of probation and was found guilty of both. The court also continued him on probation.

A final appearance during the morning was made by Barry Smith. Smith was originally charged with breaking and entering Dr. R. S. Hosler's office in Ashville. He was placed on probation for that offense but was brought before the court Wednesday for violation of that probation.

The court found Smith guilty of the charge but continued him on probation.

Tax-Cutting Session Ends With Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some motorists may no longer be able to deduct state gasoline taxes from their federal taxes if Congress approves a proposal by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee met Wednesday to consider a plan designed to simplify tax returns. The plan would have granted a $1.3 billion tax reduction to the millions of Americans who itemize deductions each year.

But by the time the meeting was over, the committee had turned the proposed tax cut into a $575 million tax increase.

Committee members were considering a new "simplification deduction" which would substitute a lump-sum figure for miscellaneous deductions listed on itemized tax forms. But they voted 17 to 6 to repeal the nonbusiness itemized deduction that allows taxpayers to write off the state tax they pay on gasoline.

"The gasoline tax deduction may be considered inconsistent with the national energy policy. The deduction lowers the price of gasoline for taxpayers who itemize deductions," the panel was told by its staff tax experts, who estimated that eliminating the deduction could reduce gasoline consumption by 60,000 barrels of oil daily.

The gasoline tax deduction was included in a package proposal for ending or changing miscellaneous itemized deductions and replacing them with a lump-sum itemized deduction of up to $650.

As many as 27 million Americans normally itemize deductions rather than simply taking the standard deduction. Repeal of the nonbusiness gasoline tax deduction, if approved by Congress, would take effect Jan. 1, 1976.

A Page Of Opinion

On The Merry-Go-Round

Candidate Gerald Ford is making another bid for votes, with a tax cut plan totaling $28 billion. He proposes to pay for this largesse with taxpayers' money shifted from other federal programs.

Perhaps the most pertinent remark in regard to the cut came from Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., who is chairman of the House Budget Committee. "He is looking at numbers, not at the real world," said Adams.

The only trouble with that statement is that it should also include the Congress. The nation's lawmakers are also busy with their own plan to buy votes with tax money, and are likely to also be unrealistic.

Government spending doubled between 1962 and 1970. It has almost doubled again. And it is all your money, Mr. and Mrs. America. The vote buyers propose to give a little of it back in the form of reduced taxes.

We would be willing to venture that somehow, few trades will be made in spending cuts, and federal spending will go up again.

What ever happened to the idea that people should take care of their problems at the lowest possible level? Why should all the money be sent to Washington in order to get only part of it back?

If the millennium should arrive and the federal government be cut in half, we expect that the nation would survive, and even prosper. With the relatively painless method of tax withholding, many people do not realize that the most burdensome load for the average man is taxes.

Now, we get back on the election merry-go-round, with the music furnished by our own money.

A Striking Statistic

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (KFS) — It once was said of active women that they had their fingers in every pie.

Today it's the heck with pie: their fingers are stuck in bowling balls.

Startlingly, the latest statistic has it that 20 per cent of all American women bowl — on a regular basis! That means daily or weekly. Uncounted others have an occasional fling at it. (That's what I do — fling myself down the alley, rather than losing a thumb or two fingers.)

"Oh-oh," says Vesma Grinfelds of San Francisco, one of the nation's top female pros. "Please don't say 'alley.' We call them 'lanes' now. And your ball doesn't go in the 'gutter.' It goes in the 'channel.'" Since women got into bowling, they want to clean up the negative stereotypical semantics of the sport.

Vesma is young, lovely, unmuscular-looking and intellectual, which is far from the stereotype of women bowlers. A former figure-skating champ with an almost complete master's degree in Political Science, she claims bowling is the most "mental" sport in the U.S.

"To win a bowling competition," she says, "you have to put out a 150 per cent effort. Ten per cent of it is physical, and 140 per cent is mental."

How's that? "Compare it with tennis, for example. In tennis, there are a tremendous variety of moves, and there is a chance to make a wrong move, then cover up with another, brilliant move and get away with it.

"In bowling, you have four or five steps, one arm swing, one follow-through and one pushaway. Everything must be precise, perfect. You must have total concentration. That does not mean thinking about your moves as you make them. There is a vast difference between thinking and concentrating. If you think about taking a left step, then a right, you're in trouble — spastic; no matter how intelligent you are, your brain cannot cope with thinking in your one second of action.

"No, you must concentrate. Concentration is an act in bowling of forcing yourself to daydream at will — of getting every thought out of your head except that target."

And even when one manages to concentrate perfectly, says Vesma, you can miss a strike or spare. "That's because there's a certain element of luck, which fortunately tends to even out. The bowling gods may turn their backs on you one day, and look favorably on you the next. More and more, I become fatalistic about the game."

She is particularly fatalistic about a match she will play this Saturday in Las Vegas. In a televised extravaganza for the biggest cash prize in the history of pro bowling, she will pit her concentration against another top pro, Judy Soutar of Kansas City, Mo., and the highest-scoring woman amateur, Carolyn Anderton of Ft. Worth. Called "The Brunswick $50,000 Showdown," the winner-take-all match is to be hosted by Telly Savalas and Ed Mahon.

"I've already won the match," Ms. Grinfelds smiles, "but only in my own mind."

She explains: in preparation for the spectacular, she saw a hypnotist. "Under hypnosis, I've already gone through the entire tournament — all the heart-pounding, the suspense. I've won it, in my own mind. It's now a matter of my doing it in reality."

Vesma doesn't know what types of mental and confidence-provoking techniques her competitors will be using, but she's sure they have their own systems for relaxing and concentrating. "We all have to do something to psyche ourselves up. It's

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If financial default became a probability in his home town, said J. Rex Duwe, new president of the American Bankers Association, he would be eager to help but not to the point of risking depositors' funds.

"I would try to work with the community to help it become fiscally responsible and try to match spending with receipts. I would do everything I could but that doesn't mean lending money it couldn't pay back."

The greatest social irresponsibility that can be committed by a banker, said Duwe, 57, who on Wednesday took over for one year the leadership of the nearly 14,000-member commercial bank group, is to risk insolvency of his bank.

This is much the same posture taken by New York City's bankers as the city tries to find solutions to its financial difficulties, and puts pressure on banks and other institutions to offer financial aid.

What makes Duwe's views unusually interesting is his background in grass-roots America, where he runs the Farmers State Bank in the tiny town of Lucas, Kan. The population is 620, up by 96 bodies since the last census, according to a check with the county clerk.

Lucas has almost no unemployment, "only those who don't want to work," Duwe said. It has little crime because it has "a large and well equipped police force, who happens to be a highly personal thing of trying to put your own head together."

I asked Vesma if the mental aspect of the sport might be an advantage for women — over men — in bowling. Her deep brown eyes glistened, like a pair of miniature bowling balls. "Oh, I think men can concentrate as well as women," she said. "But I will say this much. Although the statistics show that the average man can outbowl a woman by 10 to 15 pins per game, I think this is the only sport where women can reasonably win over men in the short run. Over the long run, men should win out because they have more muscle and more stamina."

"When bowling has its equivalent of the Bobby Riggs-Billie Jean King match," she smiled, "I'm afraid we will have to get handicap points..."

Unless, she leered sweetly, the female competitors are allowed to wear mini-gear which would disrupt the male maxi-concentration!

friend of mine." It has, Duwe said, "a vocal minority, but he too is a good friend."

It is very unlike the stereotype of New York, and New Yorkers sometimes fear that stereotype costs them sympathy. But, said Duwe, the same banking principles apply, big town or small.

In his long climb through the ranks of the association, Duwe said, "I haven't found one banker who doesn't feel a keen responsibility to his community. It is demonstrated here in New York."

New York bankers, he said, "not only have walked the first mile, but the second, third and fourth miles to keep the city afloat. I have the distinct feeling they have gone beyond where I would have gone."

Although Duwe didn't forecast it, under his formula a default would be the next step for New York City. It would mean "honoring expenses down to the point where they could be paid from tax revenues."

The actual impact of default is impossible to assess, he believes, although it probably would be mainly on the city's ability to raise future funds.

Would he approve of federal aid? "The question you are asking involves every single taxpayer in America. The federal government doesn't produce a dime. It takes money from people and redistributes it — after overhead."

It is impossible, he said, to ignore the consequences of creating a precedent. "I don't see how it (the federal government) can help New York and not help Boston or Detroit or Lucas, Kan."

Does he, then, believe in federal guarantees on corporate loans? "I was personally against that too. It was a booboo," he replied.

"Therefore, do you believe in bankruptcy?" he was asked. He replied: "I believe in fiscal responsibility before it is too late — before it reaches that point."

Textile Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite manufacturing activity being off 14.5 per cent and textile output volume down 28 per cent, indicators signal better business ahead for the U.S. textile industry in the third quarter, according to a story in Textile World magazine.

Reasons: reduction of excessive inventories, tax rebates and tax cuts, more mortgage money available and gradual improvement in new car sales.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Oct. 9, the 282nd day of 1975. There are 83 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1934, King Alexander I of Yugoslavia was assassinated by a Croat student in Marseilles, France.

On this date:

In 1642, Harvard's first commencement was held.

In 1701, Yale College was founded.

In 1760, the Russians captured Berlin.

In 1871, nearly 1,200 lives were lost in a forest fire which destroyed Peshtigo, Wisconsin.

In 1910, there were 400 fatalities in forest fires which swept through six towns in northern Minnesota.

In 1958, Pope Pius XII died at the age of 82.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson signed a number of bills at Bethesda Naval Hospital, one day after an operation for removal of his gall bladder.

Five years ago: The U.S. concentrated all its B52 raids in Indochina on Laos, with nearly 30 bombers hitting targets along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

One year ago: President Ford told a news conference his economic plans could cut inflation by early in 1975.

Today's birthdays: Chairman Manuel Cohen of the Securities and Exchange Commission is 63 years old. Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is 72.

Thought for today: Most fools think they are only ignorant — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, early in the American Revolution, the Massachusetts House of Representatives in Watertown named a committee to make plans to outfit privateers for defense of the Colonies.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My fingers turn ashen white, even when I put my hands in mildly cold water.

This happened at first when the weather was cold. Now I notice that it happens even in warm or hot weather.

Are there ways that my circulation can be examined for this symptom? Mrs. G. B., Ind.

Dear Mrs. B.:

You are correct in assuming that this is a problem that involves your circulation.

There are a number of vascular disorders which affect the blood vessels of the tips of the hands and the feet and produce the symptoms you describe.

The most common one is Raynaud's disease. Spasm of the blood vessels that bring blood to the hands and feet can produce the blanching you described, also blueness (cyanosis).

Raynaud's is a very complex circulatory problem. There are now many tests by which this disease and others can be diagnosed.

There are a number of new drugs which are used with moderate success for dilating the blood vessels.

There is also an operation known as "sympathectomy" which, too, is used in an effort to release the spasms of the blood vessels and increase the blood supply.

Tobacco has been implicated in Raynaud's disease. It adds more spasm to blood vessels already constricted by this condition.

Every once in a while I get a pimple inside of my nose. Then my nose balloons up to almost twice its size. I don't pick my nose so I don't understand why this should happen to me.

Mr. D.Z., Ga.

Dear Mr. Z.:

The tiny hairs on the inside of the nose are nature's protective mechanism.

When these are pulled out, with or without a handkerchief, the roots are exposed to the germs that normally lie on the skin in this area.

The germ, usually the staphylococcus, invades the open hair pocket and infection sets in.

To prevent these infections, try using a simple mineral oil lubricant inside the nose. This keeps crusts from accumulating and diminishes the need to forcefully remove them.

Repeated infections call for blood studies and cultures to see if there is any unusual underlying reason.

Charles Ruff New Watergate Prober

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Ruff's law school students gave him high marks and so did Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, who chose the young professor as the fourth and possibly last special Watergate prosecutor.

"Patient, helpful, respectful of students," was the way Ruff was described by the Georgetown Law Weekly, the student newspaper of the Georgetown University Law School.

Judge Raps Clark Talk About KSU

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge here has reprimanded former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark for commenting on the civil damages trial stemming from the Kent State University shootings, but the judge dropped contempt of court charges against Clark.

U.S. District Court Judge Don J. Young charged Clark with a "striking lack of sensitivity" for violating a gag rule barring lawyers in the case from talking about it.

The contempt citation was sought by an attorney for Gov. James Rhodes, one of the defendants, after Clark gave interviews to two Columbus television stations.

Clark told the newsmen justice had failed earlier when criminal charges against eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were dropped. The eight were among troops accused of shooting and killing four students during a campus antiwar demonstration May 4, 1970.

Clark also said a verdict against the 40 state officials and guardsmen being sued in the damages trial would serve as a deterrent to other abuses in law enforcement.

Verdicts exonerating the defendants from financial liability were returned Aug. 27.

Clark said in his defense that he never had been hired by either side, although he had attended pretrial conferences with lawyers for the shooting victims.

The judge said he would accept the attorney's statement but concluded, "All of these matters show a rather striking lack of sensitivity on the part of Mr. Clark both to his professional responsibilities and to the unique character of these cases."

State income tax collections in Arkansas in 1974 increased 29 per cent over the year before, without a state percentage increase.

where Ruff teaches three courses.

The student appraisal, part of the newspaper's evaluation of some faculty members as the fall semester opened, said Ruff, 36, "got high marks from last year's students."

Ruff takes over late this month as head of the Watergate prosecution force, now diminished in strength to two other attorneys and a handful of employees as the major investigative effort winds down.

Ruff succeeds Henry S. Ruth, who is leaving after a year as the special prosecutor for a job with the Urban Institute in Washington.

In an interview after his appointment was announced Tuesday, Ruff said he will devote "a substantial chunk of time to the prosecutor's office" during his first few months on the job, although he will continue as a full-time faculty member at the law school.

The part-time prosecutor will be in charge of presenting the government's case in the appellate court and possibly the Supreme Court as major Watergate figures such as former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman challenge their convictions and prison sentences for Watergate crimes.

He also will supervise investigative matters yet to be completed.

Ruff said he's making no guesses about how long it will take to finish the work — "I'm in for as long as it's necessary."

Levi said he has Ruff's "commitment that he will devote as much time as is necessary to discharge his duties as special prosecutor."

A Cleveland native and a graduate of Swarthmore College and Columbia Law School, Ruff is no stranger to the Watergate prosecution. He worked for all three of his predecessors — Ruth, Leon Jaworski and Archibald Cox — as a part-time assistant special prosecutor since spring of 1973.

Birch Bayh Sets Campaign Drive

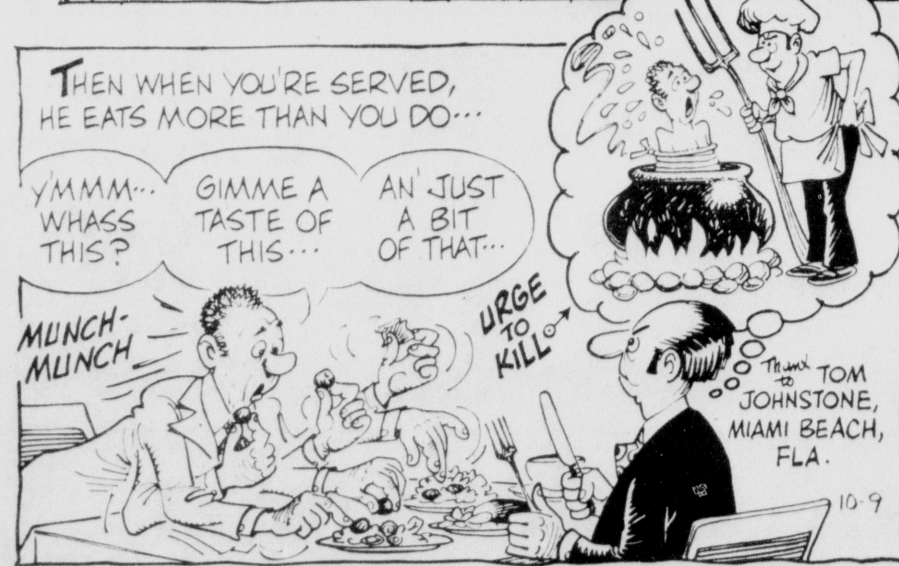

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., will open a presidential campaign headquarters in New Hampshire, an aide said Tuesday night.

"It's going to happen soon...within a week or so," said press secretary Bili Wise.

Bayh has not formally announced he is seeking the Democratic nomination for president but has expressed repeatedly his interest.

New Hampshire has the nation's first presidential preference primary.

Change In PUCO Standards, Image Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The "political image" of Ohio's rate making Public Utilities Commission would be diminished under recommendations contained in a report almost ready for state lawmakers.

Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, chairman of a joint committee which has studied the commission and its functions since April, released Tuesday an outline of the recommendations to be presented to the legislature Oct. 15.

Many of the proposals, which involve procedures for having the utilities justify rate increases, were released earlier. But the "final official meeting" of the ad hoc panel deal considering what the chairman called the state agency's "political image."

Presidential Security Plan Found On Courthouse Lawn

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — A six-page security plan for President Ford's visit to Elkins last Saturday was found on the lawn of the Randolph County Courthouse three hours before the President's arrival.

The plan, found by this reporter prior to the security-conscious presidential visit, pinpointed places along Ford's route where he would probably alight from his bullet-proof car.

In fact, the President did stop at each of the three spots detailed on the plan.

The locations of four two-man West Virginia State Police sniper teams, assignments of all state and city police along the parade route, escape routes to be used by the presidential limousine in case of emergency and security plans for areas behind buildings along the parade route were also listed in the plan.

It included the assignments of state conservation officers, and detailed the number of men involved in each assignment.

When an attempt was made to return the plan to a Secret Service agent assigned to the press credential room, the agent glanced at the material and said it was not important.

Real McCoy Determined

MIAMI (AP) — The FBI's search for the real McCoy is over. But now officials are trying to determine the identity of the person in James E. McCoy's grave.

An FBI check Tuesday confirmed that a man who died Sept. 27 was McCoy.

When his widow sought veteran's benefits, including burial of her husband in a national cemetery, the Veterans Administration said their records showed that McCoy had died in 1967 and was buried in a government plot.

A FBI fingerprint check was requested, and it proved conclusively that the man who died last month was in fact the ex-veteran McCoy. VA officials said Tuesday that benefits and burial plans now would be processed and that an investigation was under way to determine the identity of the body in the grave.

Annie Oakley, famed markswoman born at Woodington near Greenville, Ohio, in 1860, got her early training shooting quail for Dayton and Cincinnati hotel menus.

The reporter later showed the papers to Poppy Noel, a staff assistant to the President, and told him where they were found. Noel and other White House aides examined the plan and said they were alarmed at the apparent carelessness involved in its loss.

The aides kept the material turned over by the reporter.

Noel said the plan was distributed to state and local law enforcement officers during a briefing the morning of the President's arrival.

"We are aware of the reporting of the incident and we are investigating the matter," a Secret Service spokesman said in Washington early today. He declined further comment.

The Youngstown lawmaker said he is asking for a requirement under which the three-member, appointed commission would have to adopt a code of ethics similar to the one that currently limits the political activity of Ohio's judges.

Members of the commission, under present law, are appointed to six-year terms by the governor, subject to approval of the Senate. The committee proposed no change in that procedure, but Carney said the commission "needs to do something to put more emphasis on professionalism."

Along that line, the committee called in another recommendation for the commission staff to be qualified for positions only after the successful completion of a Civil Service examination that would be prepared by the Department of Administrative Services.

On a motion by Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, a minority member of the Joint Select Committee on Energy, existing employees would not be exempt from the examination. Carney concurred in the motion, saying "the commission is no place for partisan patronage."

Additionally, the joint committee urged that the public utilities be prohibited from including their contributions to political "causes" (they are banned from contributing to candidates) in their calculations of rate base expenses.

Instead, any such contributions to a political cause—a state bond issue was cited as an example—would have to be underwritten by the utility's shareholders.

Some other recommendations, including higher pay for commissioner and hearing examiners, were left for the pursuit of standing committees in the legislature that deal with energy and related matters.

A survey of other comparable states showed the commission and staff is about half way down on a list of 11 states in the amount they receive in salaries, said Roger Sullivan, the committee's staff director. The committee's general recommendation is that the standing committees consider increases of about 25 per cent.

Commission Chairman C. Luther Heckman and Commissioner Sally Bloomfield each receive $26,500 a year in salary, while Commissioner David C. Sweet, last in seniority, draws $25,300.

Hearing examiners begin at about $14,000, but fall behind their counterparts in other states in two or three years, Sullivan said. He said the average turnover among Ohio examiners is about two years, at which time they take higher paying jobs in industry.

In other recommendations, the committee called for establishment of adversary services for small communities and others opposing rate hikes at commission hearings, and the opening of an office in Washington, D.C., possibly in conjunction with Ohio's new Energy Resource and Development Agency. The latter would make information about federal energy programs and policies to state planners.

Carney said the committee's major proposals, generally designed to give the commission greater control over two key rate making procedures, make up "85 per cent of our report."

Those procedures are the fuel adjustment clause, under which utilities pass fuel cost increases along to consumers, and the reconstruction cost new (RCN) formula, which lets utilities base the value of their capital plants on current replacement costs rather than what they cost originally.

In its earlier recommendations, the committee said the commission should clamp tighter controls on use of the fuel adjustment clause, and that RCN should be replaced by an original cost formula.

Deborah L. Green, Gary K. Scherer Become Engaged

DEBORAH LOU GREEN

The engagement of Miss Deborah Lou Green and Gary Kevin Scherer is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Green of Circleville. Mr. Scherer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Scherer, also of Circleville. Miss Green is a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School and is presently a senior at Grant School of Nursing in Columbus.

Her fiancé, a 1972 graduate of Circleville High School, is a senior at Ohio State University majoring in accounting.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Salem Church Women Elect New Officers

The October meeting of Salem United Methodist Church was held recently at the church with Mrs. Marge Evans, Mrs. Janet O'Dell and Mrs. Shirley Hutchinson as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Ralph Ankrom led devotions using "Global Concerns" as the theme for the evening. Scripture was from John 21:12-17. Mrs. Ankrom read eight different definitions for the word global. She said no one is too small for mission work. All people should begin where they are in their own community. Members sang "In Christ There Is No East Or West" followed with a prayer on tolerance.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Darl McAfee. It was reported 30 calls were made by members during September on persons who were ill. The following events and dates were announced: District Meeting, Oct. 9 at Portsmouth; Fellowship Song Fest, Nov. 1, at the church; Holiday Fellowship, Dec. 7 with a dinner at the church.

Elected as officers for the coming year were: Mrs. Darl McAfee, president; Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, vice-president; Miss Betty Boldoser, treasurer; Mrs. Dick Hildenbrand, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Delbert Poling, secretary, and Mrs. Donald Minor, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. McAfee closed the meeting by repeating "When you meet someone without a smile, give him one of yours." Games were conducted by Miss Betty Boldoser and Mrs. Charles Boldoser, and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

FAMILY DINNER

Fish fillets, potatoes, zucchini corn, bread tray, apple crisp, beverage.

Zucchini Corn

2 medium zucchini (½ to ¾ pound)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
8¾-ounce can whole kernel corn, drained

Quarter unpeeled zucchini lengthwise; slice thin crosswise. In a 10-inch skillet in the hot butter, cook onion until golden. Stir in zucchini; simmer, covered and stirring often, until tender. Stir in corn and reheat. Makes 4 servings.

SUNDAY SUPPER

Sliced ham, potato puffs, lemon-Yogurt molds with slaw, chocolate cupcakes, beverage

Lemon-Yogurt Molds With Slaw

3-ounce package lemon-flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup orange juice
1 cup plain yogurt
6 cups shredded green cabbage
French dressing
Stir together the gelatin and water until gelatin dissolves; stir in orange juice; gradually whisk into the yogurt, keeping smooth. Turn into six ½-cup molds or custard cups. Chill until set. Cover. At serving time, unmold. Mix cabbage with enough of the dressing to moisten and flavor well; surround molds with the cabbage mixture. Makes 6 servings.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hooker Unhappy About Red-Light Puns

DEAR ABBY: I am a direct descendant of General Joseph Hooker, who served valiantly in the Civil War.

I do not know how my family name became a synonym for prostitute, whore or harlot, but I find it very offensive.

There are numerous other Hookers who are respectable, law-abiding citizens, and I am sure I speak for them when I say we Hookers are slandered by this commonly accepted, immoral connotation.

I have two daughters and a son, and the girls especially have been embarrassed numerous times by people who have made jokes about their being a couple of "hookers."

My son is seriously considering changing his name because his fiancé doesn't want to be a "Hooker," and she says if she has daughters, she doesn't want them to be "Hookers," either.

Am I overly sensitive? Or have I a point?

A PROUD HOOKER

DEAR PROUD: You have a point. Little can be done about thoughtless people who use your family name as a synonym for a woman of the street, but I'll print your letter as a reminder. Also, if your son wants to change his name, it's his privilege.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a guy who is so cheap that he won't marry the mother of his kids because she is on welfare and it pays for all her doctor and hospital bills?

We are a young married couple who worry about the high cost of living but struggle along, trying to pay for doctors and hospital bills, the house we are buying and our taxes.

Our neighbors have been living together for three years. He makes more money than I do, but he told me that he would be a fool to marry his "old lady" because she'd lose all those benefits from welfare.

It burns me up to see them enjoying all the extra money they have from such a fraud while they laugh at us honest people.

BURNED FATHER

DEAR BURNED: I agree. It's a rotten, unjust situation. But what is the alternative? Forcing people to marry? The attendant evils to that would be even worse.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a slightly flabby male in my mid 30s who occasionally wears a corset under a turtleneck or other outfit where "midriff bulge" gives me a particularly unsightly appearance. It's not too uncomfortable and it greatly improves the way I look.

When someone once asked me how I "lost" so much weight, I made the mistake of telling him the truth about the corset. Now I'm the butt of jokes from some of the guys at work.

Intelligence Investigation Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. intelligence agencies, declining to speak openly of the current covert operations in Portugal, admit they misread the situation that led to the still-seething political unrest there.

Officials of three intelligence agencies told a House panel Tuesday that they were unable to predict the coup that last year ousted rightist dictator Marcello Caetano, partly because they were not paying great attention to Portuguese affairs.

While the officials were speaking before the Select House Committee on Intelligence, a White House official denied rumors that that Central Intelligence Agency director William Colby will be fired.

However, other government officials both in the White House and the CIA, said they expect Colby either to resign or be fired by President Ford soon after the end of congressional investigations, expected next year.

And the Senate committee probing intelligence announced it had agreed to an "urgent" request from Ford to defer hearings on the National Security Agency, a super-secret group which breaks foreign codes and monitors radio and television traffic around the world.

The request for the delay, relayed by Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, is to give time to consider an unspecified matter involving national security, the committee said.

OFBF Magazine Raps Fairgrounds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The editor of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's official magazine has criticized the Ohio State Fairgrounds as a "hodgepodge of buildings, stands, tents and dead end walkways" which confuses visitors and threatens the fair's reputation.

S.C. Cashman, the editor and a former state fair director, said the fairgrounds have strayed from a master plan which he said called for organized and logical development of the grounds.

"I defy anybody to walk on the grounds and see exhibits without backtracking, getting totally confused or getting lost," Cashman said. He said improvements are needed to keep the annual event one of the top fairs in the nation.

Cashman called for a return to the master plan and for construction of a new all-weather arena.

Alcoholism

ANN RAMEY

Ann Ramey has accepted the position of part-time Alcoholism Co-ordinator for Pickaway County. Her duties include referring people with problems resulting from alcoholism to the proper sources for help and also, educating people on the astronomical side effects of alcoholism. It is her goal to make people aware of how alcoholism can destroy a home and each member of that family and hopefully, prevent it from happening to anyone else.

Mrs. Ramey will be available to show slides and speak to groups, organizations and schools about alcoholism and what Ohio is doing to combat it. She may be contacted by calling 474-6881.

Man's Menagerie In Suburbs

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A lot of people who own acreage in the sea of suburbia keep horses.

So does Lyle Kohler. He has eight Arabian horses.

He also keeps two llamas, three dogs, three deer, six Dutch rabbits, 20 roller pigeons, several Peking ducks and a flock of pheasants who like a neighbor's field better.

Kohler has 47 acres surrounded by city.

He also has a wife, Ellen. When she isn't talking to him, he talks to the white-tailed deer.

"He has all those," said Mrs. Kohler. "I want no part of them."

"She was a city girl," explained her husband.

Kohler believes the deer understand him. "Two are from Ohio," he noted.

Kohler would speak to the pheasants if he could.

After keeping them inside all winter, he expected them to show their plumage when he let them out in spring. Instead, they flew off to the neighbor's field. They've been there ever since.

The two llamas are both female.

"I've been looking for a nice male," Kohler said, "but they are hard to find." He explained they can no longer be imported from their native lands.

"Thank God," said Mrs. Kohler.

The llamas each eat one bale of alfalfa a month from the Kohler animal kitchen. But that is by no means their total intake.

Children pour out of the nearby split level houses with lettuce and other items from refrigerators. Over-the-fence feeding is a big outdoor activity in the neighborhood.

Noting that the wool of a llama sells for $1 an ounce, Kohler said maybe he could get his wife to start shearing.

"Get out of here," said the wife.

Despite the variety of animal life, he calls his spread the LK Arabian Horse farm. He does raise and sell the beautiful, swift mounts of the Sahara.

The Kohler family, which includes Brenda, 17, Robert, 12, and Richard, 7, all ride the horses. Even Mrs. Kohler.

In order to acquire his island, Kohler had to buy a 200-acre farm for $200,000.

He then found buyers for the surplus.

The Kohlers built their southern colonial home three years ago on the burned out ruins of an old farmhouse.

"The barn came first," said Mrs. Kohler. "It cost $8,000."

"Because of that," said her husband, "I had to put an extra $12,000 into the place. Each time she would want something in the house, I would say, 'Can't we get along without that?'"

"And she would answer, 'You've got better in the barn.' So what could I say?"

Kohler is a retired Canton businessman. He operated a service plaza—restaurant and filling station—off Interstate 77.

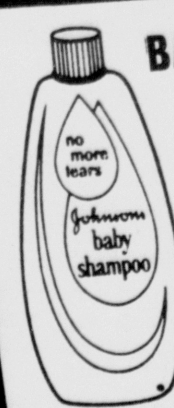

Ask him what's next for his Stark County farm within suburbia, and he'll reply, "Maybe some elk."

"No, he doesn't want any elk," says Ellen.

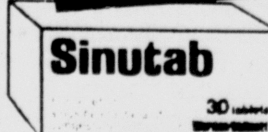

"I was thinking of buffalo," he adds, glancing at his wife, "but I don't know ..."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Have you read any bright new books from the children's room lately? We have several that just arrived and are waiting to be taken out.

"Three Friends" by Robert Kraus is a brightly colored picture book about a tiger, a panda, and an octopus that met and became friends. Their adventures are fun and made more interesting by the loveable illustrations.

The Read-By-Myself Books have come out with a new concept — a ten word text. If you have a beginning reader at home, "The Marvelous Mud Washing Machine" by Patty Wolcott is just the book to help him learn new and interesting words. It's about a boy who likes to play in mud and his mud washing machine.

Is your turtle sad? "Devin and Goliath" by Mary Blount Christian is about a boy who catches a big turtle in a pond. After Devin gets the turtle home, he realizes how sad Goliath is without his friends, and does something to make Goliath happy again.

Do your children enjoy playing in the snow? Ruth Craft has written a book about three children who play and enjoy themselves in the snow. As the children start for home in the evening one discovers "The Winter Bear." The illustrations in this book are beautiful — share them with your child soon! "The Red Carpet" by Rex Parkin is about a whimsical red carpet that rolled out to meet a famous visitor. This would be a good book to read aloud to your child for he can follow the story through the illustrations.

Does your child enjoy fixing meals? "Sandwichery" by Patricia and Talivaldis Stubis will help him do just that. This is a fun book that tells recipes, riddles, and funny facts about food. The main theme of this book is different types of sandwiches that you may not have thought of before.

Table manners can sometimes be difficult for the small child to grasp. "Dinner at Albert's" by Russell Hoban is one of the funniest, as well as helpful, books to help teach behavior at the table. This is a good book for children of all ages.

Come in to your Public Library and take a stack of books home. You will be glad to have lots of books on hand when the children are out of school for the Pumpkin Show.

Patrol Sets Dual Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Patrol will investigate charges of alleged criminal activities at Longview State Hospital near Cincinnati and the Columbus State Institute.

Dr. Timothy Moritz, state mental health director, said the decision for a patrol investigation was made at a meeting Tuesday with Highway Safety Director Donald L. Cook.

"The highway patrol has the primary statutory responsibility and authority to investigate alleged criminal activities on state property, including mental institutions," he said.

Moritz said his department will provide all possible assistance and cooperation to the patrol in its investigation. He said the probe will be limited to possible criminal activities. The director said he believes the investigation will be "beneficial to employes and patients in institutions by removing criminal elements which are threatening their welfare."

The decision follows release of a report on a patrol investigation of conditions at Hawthornden State Hospital near Cleveland which listed instances of patient beatings, sexual relations involving a patient and threats to nurses.

NOTICE OF ELECTION ON TAX LEVY IN EXCESS OF THE TEN MILL LIMITATION

NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Trustees of the Township of Washington, Ohio, passed on the 1st day of April, 1975, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said Washington Township at a General Election to be held in the Township of Washington, Ohio, at the regular places of voting therein, on Tuesday, the 4th day of November, 1975, the question of levying, in excess of the ten mill limitation, for the benefit of the Township of Washington for the purpose of providing for constructing, re-constructing, re-surfacing, improving or repairing the public roads in said Washington Township.

Said tax being: a renewal of an existing tax of 2 mills to run for 5 years at a rate not exceeding 2 mills for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to $20 for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for 5 years with taxes being levied in 1975.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 7:30 o'clock P.M. by the clock of said day.

Find Jupiter's Gun Insurance Plan Aired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's not like the discovery of America; it's more like the discovery of Catalina Island," says astronomer Charles Kowal, who claims he has found a 14th moon of the planet Jupiter.

The new moon is just a speck, about four miles across and 400 million miles from earth, but it's only the 34th known moon in our solar system and the second such discovery since 1951.

Kowal, 34, an astronomer for the Hale Observatory near San Diego, also found Jupiter's 13th moon, and his latest discovery was reported Tuesday in a telephone interview.

How was a moon able to escape detection for so long?

"There are a lot of unknown things in the universe," Kowal said. "You just can't look at all of them. And partly it's a matter of fashion. Exotic things like quasars and black holes are fashionable right now and satellites are not."

Kowal made the discovery with a 200-inch telescope at Mt. Palomar Observatory, about 120 miles southeast of Los Angeles. He says his success is largely due to special photographic plates that are baked in an oven with nitrogen gas and can detect very faint objects.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When Margaret Schran talks gun control, most of her ideas are typical of those who favor restrictions. She wants a ban on handguns and registration of all other guns.

But in testimony before the House Judiciary Committee, Ms. Schran added a wrinkle which Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said he'd never heard of before.

Ms. Schran, who uses the title by preference, wants to give a piece of gun control to the private sector. Borrowing a chapter from the automobile world, she has proposed compulsory liability insurance on guns.

Ms. Schran, who proposed the insurance scheme during a committee hearing in Dayton, says the insurance not only would force gun owners to be responsible for their weapons, but also would amount to nongovernmental gun control. Poor risks simply wouldn't be able to afford the insurance.

And insurance companies, with a financial interest at stake, likely would be a bit more careful in screening gun owners, she said.

"You know, when you get car insurance, they come around and ask you what your driving and drinking habits are," she explained.

"Maybe if they (gun owners) had insurance, then they'd have to be asked, 'Where are you going to keep it? What are your drinking habits?'"

Ms. Schran said the questions and the insurance rates would force gun owners to become more aware of their responsibilities.

"The public is paying for those who use guns carelessly," she says. "We all help pay for gun accidents. They (victims) take up hospital space, and they up our insurance rates."

Lehman said Ms. Schran's suggestion is "the most novel proposal that's come forward that has merit," but agreed with Ms. Schran that it would have to be tied to gun registration to be workable.

Her idea was panned, however, by a spokesman for the National Rifle Association in Washington, even without gun registration.

Public relations manager Steve Hines, saying that he was speaking for himself, said the proposal would unnecessarily burden the responsible gun owner.

"I don't see this on the surface as an approach that would go after the criminal," Hines said. "It seeks to put the burden on the honest citizen."

Lehman said the committee would study the idea. If a majority of committee members favor pursuing it, insurance companies will be invited to present their views, he said.

Lehman's committee is holding hearings throughout the state on gun control, with the next scheduled for next Wednesday in Toledo.

He said the hearings should conclude by Thanksgiving with legislation before the committee by early next year.

Guard Training Site Delayed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — High land costs have forced at least a temporary halt in plans to develop an Ohio National Guard training site in southeastern Ohio, according to Asst. Ohio Adj. Gen. James Abraham.

Abraham said in an interview that a feasibility study has been completed and indicates that unless land can be obtained at a lower cost, the project might have to be scrapped.

Abraham said the site would require about 38,000 acres, and studies in all southeastern Ohio counties showed it would cost the state $40 million to $50 million to acquire the land.

Edwin H. Davis State Memorial three miles southeast of Peebles is a nature preserve covering 88 acres.

Cloudy And Wet Weather Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudy, wet weather continued over portions of the northern and eastern United States overnight, with a strong low pressure center that brought snow to the northern Rockies moving on to southern Manitoba with its circulation weakening.

Rain and drizzle fell in central and eastern North Dakota, and light snow was reported from western North Dakota to northeast Wyoming.

The low pushed a cold front through the northern and central Plains, setting off some scattered thundershowers in eastern Minnesota and showers in Iowa and northern Missouri.

Winds around the storm diminished, but some spots in South Dakota were still receiving gusts of more than 30 miles an hour today.

Clouds extended from the upper Mississippi Valley eastward, where they merged with those of another weather system affecting the eastern part of the country. Overcast skies were reported from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic coast, and from the Carolinas into southern New England.

Rain fell from northern Indiana and southern Michigan to the middle Atlantic coast. Several spots in the Carolinas reported more than an inch of rain during the six hour period ending at 2 a.m. EDT.

A few thundershowers were indicated over the Florida peninsula, but a broad area of clear skies reached from the Gulf Coast into the Rockies and extreme southwestern United States.

Another cold front spread clouds into the northern and central portions of the Pacific coast and Plateau region, with showers falling from western Washington into extreme northern

On Tuesday night 40 residents of Cottage A called on Mrs. Madge Hoffman to wish her well and a speedy recovery.

2 Churches Hold Bargain Sellathon

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two old Catholic churches here, which are being torn down because of low attendance, attracted a large crowd of bargain hunters Wednesday.

The occasion was a sale of artifacts and furnishings from St. Agnes and St. Thomas Aquinas churches.

"The statues sold like hot cakes," one of the buyers said. "All the women were taking them for $150 and $200."

Paul Minillo, the owner of an Italian restaurant here, bought several windows, two bronze doors, four pews and a confessional. He said he will use the confessional as a telephone booth in his restaurant and the pews as seats for a cocktail lounge.

One of the biggest buyers was Bob Henderson of Cleveland who bought articles worth $1,625. He said he would have bought a $15,000 altar if he had the money. "It would make a great fireplace."

The sale was sponsored by the Catholic Diocese of Cleveland which said the two innercity churches are going to be demolished soon. St. Agnes was built in 1916 and St. Thomas Aquinas in 1903.

Some persons at the sale expressed regret at the demise of the churches. "It's such a tragedy," one woman said, "and I'm not even a Christian."

Artifacts Given To Toledo Lab

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The University of Toledo Laboratory of Ethnoarchaeology and the Toledo area Aboriginal Research Club has received a large collection of artifacts representing the cultural development of northwestern Ohio's earliest inhabitants.

The prehistoric material was collected by the late George D. Welles Jr. and is described as "the most extensive and well documented amateur collection in northwestern Ohio."

Welles was an amateur archaeologist and naturalist in Toledo.

The nostalgic song "Down by the Old Mill Stream" was written by Tell Taylor, 1866-1937, of Findlay, Ohio.

Humbard Cathedral In Trouble

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The pastor of the Cathedral of Tomorrow is seeking $2.2 million to prevent his ministry from becoming the cathedral of yesterday.

The Rev. Rex Humbard blames state and federal actions for creating "government controlled budgets" under which his church is struggling to pay off debts.

In February 1973, the state and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission accused the Cathedral of using unlicensed sales persons to sell unregistered securities. The Cathedral and the state worked out a program under which holders of more than $12.5 million of the church's securities could recover their investments.

The Rev. Mr. Humbard likened this action to a bank calling one of its customers and saying, "pay off all the mortgage on your home and car immediately."

The pastor has now urged friends of the church to donate $2.2 million to pay off the church's debt.

As of June 30, the Cathedral had repaid all but $3.4 million. Another $1.2 million was in a Columbus bank account established to cover the debt.

"This ministry was dealt a crushing blow two years ago when the government demanded we pay off our bonds and church notes that our friends had purchased to expand this worldwide outreach," the pastor said in a letter.

He also has made the appeal on his television programs which reach 488 television outlets around the world.

Latta Supports Budget Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, the ranking minority member of the House Budget Committee, introduced a resolution Wednesday that would impose the President's requested $395 billion ceiling on the fiscal 1977 budget.

President Ford made the proposal Monday as he suggested new tax cuts he wants paired with reductions in federal spending.

Latta endorsed the overall plan but said he was disappointed middle income taxpayers would not get a larger reduction.

The resolution states the spending lid is necessary to prevent inflation from eroding the benefits of the $28 billion tax reduction Ford is proposing and to insure that "inflationary federal spending does not bring on another recession."

An estimated 60,000 persons died from typhus at Lyons, France, in 1628.

Low pressure moving northward from the Gulf spread rains over all of Ohio Wednesday.

More than one inch of rain fell in the Cincinnati area and around three-quarters of an inch drenched the Toledo area. Other sections had around one-half inch.

Rain continued over much of the state this morning but was expected to end from the west during the day.

Another low pressure trough approaching from the west threatened showers over the state for tonight.

High temperatures today were forecast to reach the 60s northeast to the 70s southwest with lows tonight in the upper 40s and 50s. Highs Friday will be in the upper 60s and 70s.

Sophia Loren Aids Texas Parish Priest

LLANO, Tex. (AP) — Actress Sophia Loren's "friendship with a poor parish priest in the heart of Texas" may provide a new church for 40 Roman Catholic families in this Hill Country community west of Austin, says the Rev. Anthony Goossens.

"She has charity and compassion for poor people," Father Goossens said of the film star with whom he has corresponded for 10 years.

Miss Loren sent Father Goossens a set of five ruby rings to be auctioned off for money to rebuild the Holy Trinity mission church in his parish, which covers 3,000 sparsely populated square miles.

About 350 Roman Catholic families, mostly Mexican-Americans, live in the parish, and about 40 of them attend the Llano mission church.

"It is a poor parish," said Father Goossens, who drives around it in an old Volkswagen. "I gave them (the parishioners) the good news last week. They all want to write to Miss Loren and thank her."

He said he does not know how he will auction off the rings.

"I have had calls from around the country from people who want to buy them," he said. "We are going to have to go out of the parish, or the state, to get enough money to rebuild the church."

"I really do not know how much the rings are worth. The real value of the rings is that they come from her ... but, of course, she doesn't buy jewelry at a dime store."

The 61-year-old priest went to Houston in 1965 to visit patients in hospitals there. He met a French woman who had just undergone heart surgery and whose trip had been paid for by Miss Loren.

The priest wrote to Miss Loren to tell her of the patient's condition after the successful operation, and the actress "wrote back to thank me. And then I wrote back and told her about our work," Father Goossens said.

The pair continued to exchange letters, and when the Oblate missionary returned to his native Holland for a visit, he arranged to meet with Miss Loren in Rome. He saw her again last December.

"It was then that I told her about the missions and mentioned casually that we were trying to raise money. I suggested that she give something of her own, and she asked me what that could be."

"After I returned to Texas, I wrote to her suggesting she donate a ring. She sent the rings, saying she had used them in a picture very dear to her."

"She said, 'I hope your auction is a smashing success. Please keep me in your prayers.'"

Medical Training Bill Becomes Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill establishing procedures for foreign-trained medical students to become doctors in Ohio has become law without the signature of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The "fifth pathway" bill provides for the designation of an Ohio medical school as a training ground for students who have completed four years of medical study abroad. Under the new law, these students can become physicians in Ohio after one additional year of education at the state school.

The governor has 10 days to sign or veto a bill before it automatically takes effect.

Explaining his reluctance, Rhodes agreed that the measure answers a "severe social need" for more doctors. "At the same time," he added, "as a matter of personal philosophy, I disagree with the section of the bill which could allow Board of Regents to dictate admissions procedures for these doctors."

The legislation requires the regents board to select "at least one" state-funded medical school to offer the program. The nine-member panel is also charged with setting admission standards.

Rhodes, a persistent critic of the board which he believes exceeds its authority to plan and coordinate higher education activities, conceded it was "unlikely" that the intent of the bill would be abused.

"However, I take strong exception to the precedent of outside control of professional school admission," he said.

"One of the strengths of our professional schools has been their independence in selecting the best students," the governor contended. "In this particular case, I have satisfied myself that no arbitrary dictates to these schools will result."

Six medical schools are eligible for state funds and would thus qualify as a fifth pathway facility: Medical College of Ohio at Toledo; Ohio State University; Case-Western Reserve; University of Cincinnati; Wright State in Dayton, and Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine.

Sponsored by Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, the legislation, which passed the General Assembly with only one dissenting vote, mandates that a program must be set up by January, 1976.

Portuguese Troops Still In Rebellion

OPORTO, Portugal (AP) — Mutinous far-left soldiers dispersed several thousand menacing demonstrators during the night by driving a tank through the crowd.

The demonstrators, members of the centrist Popular Democratic party, were advancing on the rebels behind makeshift wooden shields when the tank drove into their ranks.

Three soldiers armed with rifles were perched atop the vehicle, but no shots were fired and no injuries were reported.

Earlier, the demonstrators engaged in a rock-throwing melee with supporters of the mutineers. Several of the demonstrators were struck by rocks.

The mutineers belong to an artillery regiment across the Douro River from Oporto, 175 miles north of Lisbon. They are demanding the reinstatement of leftist activists purged from military units.

Fear of civil war has increased in Portugal as more and more army units have taken sides between moderate leftists who control the government and the radical left which preaches revolution.

The moderates, led by the Socialists and the Popular Democrats who won two thirds of the vote in April's national elections, seek restoration of traditional discipline within the military, while the Communists have promoted dissent.

5 Men Elected To New Status

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five Ohio agricultural scientists have been elected by their professional societies to the status of fellow, the highest honor the organizations could bestow.

Named fellows of the American Society of Animal Science were Alvin L. Moxon and Lawrence E. Kunkle, both of Columbus.

David M. Van Doren of Wooster and Lawrence P. Wilding of Columbus were elected fellows in the American Society of Agronomy and Robert G. Hill Jr. of Columbus was named a fellow in the American Society of Horticultural Science.

Grant Awarded In Crime Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grant of $888,485 has been awarded by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council of Greater Cleveland.

The grant will support an anti-narcotics task force composed of U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and local law enforcement personnel.

Grain, Oil Deals With Russia Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S.-Soviet agreement on American grain sales may be near and could involve a separate accord for the U.S. purchase of Russian oil, government sources say.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Bell, one of the negotiators, was scheduled to arrive here today "with no assurance that an agreement had been reached" for long-term grain sales, a senior Agriculture Department official said.

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said there had been no snag in the grain deal and that the U.S. team's chief negotiator, Undersecretary of State Charles Robinson, had left Moscow for another meeting in Paris.

Other sources said Wednesday night, however, that Robinson had remained in Moscow in hopes of putting final touches on at least an "agreement in principle" on both grain and oil.

The sources stressed that the deal does not involve a barter of U.S. grain for Soviet oil and that the two are being considered as separate trade packages. The sources also indicated that formal agreements still could be some time off.

The sources indicated that if accords are worked out announcements would come simultaneously from the White House and the Kremlin.

Meanwhile, President Ford is under pressure from farm groups and rural members of Congress to lift an embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union. Ford announced Sept. 9 that the sales moratorium would remain until after a new U.S. crop report in mid-October and to allow time for negotiating a long-term grain sales agreement.

The administration acted after concern was expressed by various labor groups and others that the exports would increase U.S. food prices by driving up grain prices.

The Agriculture Department will announce a new 1975 harvest estimate on Friday. It had been implied strongly that if record crops are still indicated — as they had been earlier by USDA — further sales to Russia could be permitted without undue stress on U.S. supplies.

The lid on grain sales was triggered in July when Russia bought 9.8 million metric tons (more than 2,200 pounds each) of grain from U.S. firms to help make up drought-shortened harvests of its own. Under threat of a ship-loading stoppage by maritime unions, Ford halted further sales to Russia.

One option available to Ford now, if final agreements on grain and oil are not ready, is to announce a limited easing of grain sales in the next few days. That would help calm Farm Belt critics and allow more time for final details to be worked out with Moscow.

The impact of any deal to buy Russian oil is more difficult to assess. One benefit would be that American reliance on the oil exporters' cartel would be reduced by adding the Soviet Union, the world's leading oil producer, as a supplier of U.S. fuel needs.

However, the Soviets are not expected to sell any oil to the United States at prices much below the cartel's price.

Patrolman Investigates Accident

State Highway Patrolman David Daley reported a two-car accident which occurred at 2:13 p.m. Wednesday in South Bloomfield.

Margaret L. Collins, 56, Route 2, Ashville, was cited by Ptl. Daley for failure to yield the right of way when she pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by Robert O. Callihan, 57, 138 Park Place.

Mrs. Collins was northbound on West Street in South Bloomfield and came to the stop sign at Route 316. She was going to turn left and failed to see Callihan coming eastbound on Route 316 according to the Patrol report.

Callihan was driving a vehicle owned by the Van Camp Paving Company. It was struck in the front end by Mrs. Collins.

Charge Man With Theft

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A Stark County grand jury has indicted the president of United Auto Workers local 917 here on charges of embezzlement, grand theft and theft while in public office.

The man, Woodrow R. Adkins, 45, of East Liverpool, pleaded innocent to the indictments returned this week and is free on $5,000 bond.

The case stems from charges that Adkins embezzled money while working for the Ohio attorney general's office as a collector of delinquent taxes.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said that between $2,000 to $3,000 allegedly was missing. He said the money represents the difference between what Adkins supposedly turned in as tax collections and what persons said they paid him from December, 1971 to November, 1974.

After Adkins' job was eliminated last spring in a reorganization, he returned to Aspro, Inc., as a maintenance mechanic and became local president, a position he held before.

The smorgasbord at the United Methodist Church was a great success Saturday evening. Thanks to everyone who worked and helped to make it a success.

Miss Ethel Fortune of Mitchell, S. D. is visiting friends here this week. She is with Eva Keller and enjoying the smorgasbord Saturday evening where she saw lots of her old friends. She was formerly a teacher at Scioto School.

Correction
The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Rolfe (Virginia Beavers) of Springfield are named Christy Lynn and Christen Lee. Sorry, the names were given to me wrong.

Jackie Beals' parents from Lexington, Ky. spent the weekend at the parsonage and attended the smorgasbord.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Browning and Hugh visited several days last week with their daughter and her husband, Tom and Beth Jacobs of University City, Mo.

William (Bill) Toole was pleasantly surprised last Sunday on his 76th birthday when his family came with a carry-in dinner at the home of Larry Toole. Everyone had a lovely day and wished him many more birthdays.

Guests of Emajean Doosey and Leota Woodgeard over the weekend were Mrs. Betty Madison and son Danny of Columbus and Betty Schrover and John Davis, also of Columbus. They all attended the smorgasbord.

The regular meeting of the Mary Martha Class will be Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. Margaret Finch will handle the devotions and the program will include a white elephant sale with Doris Beach and Rosalie Williamson in charge.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Evelyn Kauffeld, Anne Reese and Margaret Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siders are the proud parents of a daughter born at University Hospital.

Emergency Rooms
Sept. 27 — Steve Grimmer, 26, Columbus, taken to Mercy Hospital for injuries sustained in a motorcycle wreck on Route 104 and Durrett Road; Jean Boyd, 70, Orient, taken to Mercy Hospital, ill.

Oct. 2 — Ernest (Red) Wilkins, 50, Route 1, Orient, taken to Doctors Hospital West, ill.

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, Phone 986-3481

A couple of weeks ago some kind of pesky old sick bug came to our house and in rapid succession he took over with Amy, Becki and Marc and had them feeling quite miserable for a day or so after which they recovered and have felt fine.

Then the little devil decided it was my turn but he just won't leave me alone. For a day or two I will feel like a member of the human race and then ka-pow it starts all over again and that's just where we are at this moment — feeling positively miserable. So please hang in there and bear with me.

Last Friday was one of my better days and naturally it was the Valley House in Chillicothe for seafood dinner that evening. Our son Marc and his Debbie and our Amy completed the table. We saw several from the Pickaway County area enjoying themselves.

From our town there were Carl and Mary Gearhart and Tommy and Mae Carter. The two couples were celebrating Mae's birthday. We hope the lovely lady has many more birthdays.

Attending auction sales is my "bag" and last Saturday Papa Bill and I drove down to Chillicothe for one. It was his first time out on such a lengthy venture but he did quite well. Seeing and chatting with a number of acquaintances from younger days was really good. After the sale we stopped by for a brief visit with my mother, Mrs. Earl (Mildred) Hardman.

Papa Bill is making good progress as he approaches the year mark (Dec. 24) of his near tragic day. This past Tuesday we were at Riverside Hospital for a visit with Dick Young (a good friend of Papa Bill's) and while there we stopped in for a chat with Maybelle (Mrs. William) Heiskell who is on the same floor Papa Bill was during his long stay up there.

Well, the nurses were flabbergasted to see Bill doing so well and one of the doctors who had attended him also came by and just couldn't believe how well he was doing so you better believe this was a truly good morale booster for us.

Mrs. Heiskell fell at her home and suffered a broken hip and underwent surgery on Monday. In our conversation we discovered she has the same surgeon Papa Bill had and still has and so this pleases us very much because Papa Bill is a living example of the miracles this doctor can perform.

Remember to send a card to Mrs. Heiskell. She is in room 6026.

And while writing the cards please send one to Dick Young also at Riverside in room 653. Send another to Margie (Mrs. Lloyd) Drummond at University Hospital. She just recently underwent surgery, too. Another card should be sent to Leo Anderson at Berger Hospital. He is a fine old gentleman who would really appreciate receiving cards so let's get busy now all of you and get those cards in the mail.

Anyone who has ever been hospitalized knows what a tremendous "brightener upper" it is to get cards.

Norma (Mrs. Harold) Mace and daughter Linda returned home last Friday from visiting with relatives in Memphis, Tenn. Linda journeyed on to her Columbus home. Nancy Mace was home for the weekend as a respite from her second year student nursing studies at Springfield Hospital in Springfield.

Joe Wright was proudly showing a picture of his newborn grandson at church on Sunday. And what an adorable child Jason Robert Fuller is. His parents are Carl and Judy Wright Fuller of Fountain, Col. Grandmother Nellie Wright has been with the family since shortly after Jason Robert's arrival on Sept. 24.

We have had calls recently from our son Fernando Maya in Ecuador and our daughter Beth de Souza of Recife, Brazil. Fernando is expecting to come soon for a month or two and Beth states she will return either immediately after Christmas or the first of January. Schools are dismissed for "summer vacation" in the months of January, February and March in South America. Both asked to be remembered to friends they had made while here.

In the mail Monday we had a letter from our Sweetpea Ruth Shipe and Grandma Phoebe Smiley. They are both doing well according to the letter. At 101 years and seven months for Grandma Smiley this is really remarkable. The weather in Georgia has been much the same as here — unpredictable.

Euchre club met at the home of Stewie Forsythe (Mrs. William) on Tuesday evening and she broke from the norm on refreshments and served stuffed green peppers instead which were super delicious. Give me 30 lashes with a wet noodle because I have forgotten who won what in the prizes. I do know my secret sister did not forget me and gifted me with two lovely gifts (birthday and anniversary).

By the way, Mary Alice Greenwood went to Columbus with us on Tuesday and visited with Mrs. Heiskell at the hospital, too. She was not up to going to the Valley House on Friday, however. Many of the folks we saw there asked where she was since she does go with me occasionally. Her health does not permit free reign. With time and care we are all hoping good health will return to M.A.

Orders for the festival cookbook keep coming in and this is really good. One of the real fringe benefits is all the nice letters that have been received. Many of them are from ladies who have moved away from the area but still keep in touch via the newspaper. Soon as the books are ready (which is no easy job getting them put together) we will give the word. Meantime orders are still being taken by myself (986-3481), Marabel (Drummond) (986-2172) or Janet Wright (986-2132).

Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care.

Malpractice Suits Stifling Research?

DETROIT (AP) — One of the nation's pioneer heart surgeons says major breakthroughs in treating heart disease are being stifled by consumer activists whose threats of malpractice suits are frightening physicians.

Dr. Dwight Harken of Boston, here to deliver the keynote address to an international symposium on cardiac surgery, said in an interview Wednesday that the "well-intentioned and often good efforts" of many consumer advocates have frequently proved harmful.

"There has developed a public attitude that could kill creativity" in heart surgery, said Harken, the first surgeon to successfully remove shell fragments from the heart during World War II.

"Consumerism and overkill in demands for absolute safety have become so restrictive that many errors of omission may replace a few errors of commission."

"The public requirement that the practitioner be completely successful or be responsible in the courts is a devastating inroad."

"That any failure of a device or procedure may be penalized has stifled innovation, restricted industry and unfavorably affected the quality, distribution and cost of the delivery of health care."

Harken was the first physician to place a totally implantable pacemaker in the body and has developed heart valves, heart lung machines, instruments and surgical techniques for treating heart disease.

He said it is important that more doctors work to develop still better instruments and techniques, but the "popular growing wave of consumerism plus the epidemic of malpractice suits" now sweeping the medical community has caused hesitation among many would-be pioneers.

"We need a new era of public awareness that a doctor tries to give the patient something better than what he has," despite the fact that the effort may not always be successful, Harken said.

Harken suggested that binding arbitration is the most feasible solution to malpractice disputes.

Circleville Gridders Ready To Sail Into The Wilmington Hurricane Friday

"The last time the Tigers won at Wilmington was in 1967 but we certainly intend to change this situation Friday night."

These were the words of Circleville coach Larry Cook as he and his coaching staff are busy preparing the Red and Black gridders for the upcoming battle with the Hurricane.

Wilmington is 4-1 for the season and have another strong league contender. After losing the season opener to a good Xenia team, the Hurricane has defeated Clinton Massie, Cincinnati Purcell, Greenfield and Hillsboro.

The Hurricane will operate from various offensive formations including an I slot, left and right, split end with a wishbone and a power I with two tight ends.

They are basically a power football team, running the fullback up the middle and off tackle and shooting the tailback on counters, counter traps up the middle and power plays off tackle.

Duane Early, 6-foot-1, 180-pound, provides the Hurricane with a quarterback who can run and also likes to throw quick pop passes over the middle and is capable of firing the long bomb. Wilmington will use a 5-2 monster defense, angling three or four of the front five, blitzing with the inside linebackers and using a zone pass coverage.

Circleville will once again combine its multiple offense with a stubborn defense which has kept the record clean this year.

The Tigers rely on offensive and defensive consistency and the poise of the players to keep the opposition off balance.

Tiger awards, made by the coaches for their efforts in the Greenfield game, went to: Biff Bumgarner, offensive back; Tom McGuire, offensive lineman; Brent Mancini, defensive back; Earl Stevenson, defensive lineman; Bill Mogan, specialty team; and Mike Radcliff and John Russell, practice players of the week.

"We think that Wilmington is definitely a real contender for the South Central Ohio League crown and we will have to be at our best against them," coach Cook commented.

"They will have size on us and their defense has only allowed four touchdowns this season which means we will have our work cut out for us but our boys are ready. We have now reached the stage where every game is a must game in defense of our league title and state ranking," Cook said.

"We know that being ranked No. 1 puts you in a position where everyone is out to shoot you down and we realize that this is part of the responsibility that we must assume."

"At this point and time our young men have accepted the state acclaim in its proper perspective. They have been able to maintain their humbleness which certainly shows the high caliber and quality that makes up the 1975 edition of the Circleville Tigers," Cook offered.

The starting offensive unit of the Tigers will be: Tom Strawser, center; Bryan Price and Tim Hartinger, guards; Art Davis and Tom England, tackles; Tom McGuire, split end; Jeff Lackey, tight end; Brent Mancini, quarterback; Bill Mogan, fullback; Frank Merrill, wingback; Biff Bumgarner, tailback.

When the Hurricane has the ball, the Tigers will have: Bo Barthelmas, middle guard; Tom Strawser and Art Davis, tackles; Mearle Logan and Biff Bumgarner, ends; Tim Hartinger and Bill Mogan, linebackers; Tom McGuire, Tiger man; Frank Merrill, 5-yard halfback; Brian Fath, strong safety; Brent Mancini, middle safety.

Scalping Of Tickets Attacked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three or four Ohio State-Michigan tickets, 25-yard line, $100 apiece.

That classified advertisement has been appearing in a Columbus, Ohio, newspaper.

It irks Bob Ries, the Ohio State ticket director. Ries and his fellow administrators have been waging a long-time war on college football ticket scalpers.

"We read the newspapers and check those ads out to see who's doing what. But we're really powerless to do anything unless they're being sold on university premises," said Ries.

Scalping, however, hasn't been confined to advertisements in the past. Holders of the prized tickets, especially students, have swarmed around Ohio Stadium to hawk the ducats for as much as they get.

The university has made big inroads against that practice this season for two reasons.

The school's antiscalping policy, which can lead to ejection and future denial of admission to OSU activities, is printed on the face of tickets for the first time.

And Ohio State is requiring students to show their identification cards when they enter the giant horseshoe stadium this fall.

Tickets Not On Sale In Circleville

According to the rules of the South Central Ohio League, there will not be any pre-sale of football tickets in Circleville for Friday night's game at Wilmington.

All tickets, adult and student, must be purchased at the gate.

Reds Parking Hike Dropped By Council

CINCINNATI (AP)—World Series fans were spared what a Cincinnati Reds official had termed a "rip-off" increase in city parking garage rates when Cincinnati City Council backed off a measure Wednesday to increase them from $1.75 to $3.

Spokesmen for both Republican and Charter-Democrats agreed and said they should be concerned about the city's image and both agreed the proposal appeared to be a "ripoff."

Reds Take Aim At Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — After stealing the National League pennant, the Cincinnati Reds are planning the biggest haul of all—the World Series.

The Cincinnati gang, which stole bases almost at will in a three-game NL playoff sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates, prepared to hijack the rich world championship of baseball with a similar plan.

"We can steal, we can hit, we have the bullpen," says Pete Rose, brash ringleader of the National League champions. "We did everything against the Pirates. I don't see why we should stop now."

The Reds worked out today in Cincinnati and planned to jet into Boston Friday morning before taking on the American League champions in the World Series opener on Saturday. The Red Sox went through a similar workout in cozy Fenway Park.

Although the Red Sox will have the advantage of the extra home game in this best-of-seven series, the Reds have been installed as slight favorites by virtue of their extravagantly successful season.

Led by Rose—alias the "Cincinnati Kid"—the Reds flashed through the National League West and knocked off 108 victories en route to the division pennant.

"This is the best team I've been on in my 13 years playing in Cincinnati," says Rose, who had 210 hits, including 47 doubles, a .317 batting average and 74 RBI in the leadoff position this year. "This is the most complete team. This team has the long ball, the defense, home run hitters, speed, good starting pitchers and the great bullpen."

Among the muscleboys on the Cincinnati club are Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, two right-handed hitters who'll no doubt have their batting eyes fixed on the friendly left field wall in Fenway called "The Green Monster."

Bench, possibly the best catcher in baseball, was bothered by a sore arm for most of the year but still managed to wallop 28 homers and bat in 110 runs. Perez, the first baseman almost traded by the Reds last winter, belted 20 homers and had 109 RBI. Second baseman Joe Morgan, another strong wheel on the "Big Red Machine" and possibly its most important cog, had his best season in 1975—a .327 batting average, 94 runs batted in and 67 steals.

"This is the best team we've had since I've been here because we didn't depend on Bench to drive in 120 runs, Morgan to steal 70 bases and me to get 220 hits," Rose beamed.

To be sure, the Reds have an exquisite all-around team that excels on defense as well as offense. Shortstop Dave Concepcion plays at third baseman Rose's side and rounds out the infield. The outfield includes three players with some of the most powerful arms in baseball—George Foster in left, Cesar Geronimo in center and Ken Griffey in right.

Along with the lusty hitting and the gorgeous defense, the Reds have a pitching staff that includes Don Gullett, the opening day starter, Fred Norman and Gary Nolan and a bullpen anchored by Clay Carroll, one of the best in the game.

Gullett will be pitching in a danger zone at Fenway Park—a treacherous place for lefthanders because of that short left-field wall. But Manager Sparky Anderson isn't concerned about the situation.

"I'll pitch Gullett anywhere, in Yellowstone Park—anyplace," says the Cincinnati manager who has led the Reds to three pennants in the last six years.

The Red Sox, who are starting unflappable Luis Tiant in the first game, know exactly what they have to do to beat the rugged National League kings.

Points out catcher Carlton Fisk: "You can't stop good baserunners. But if the pitchers do their job and keep them off the bases, that's how you stop them."

If Tiant pitches anywhere like he did in last week's American League playoffs against the Oakland A's, the Red Sox are in business. Boston's "old man" pitched a three-hitter against the three-time world champions, triggering the Red Sox to a shocking three-game sweep.

The Red Sox, in the World Series for the first time since 1967 and only the third time in owner Tom Yawkey's career in Boston, are a perfect blend of age and youth.

Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski, the respected veteran who is one of the two players left from the 1967 Red Sox team, calls this year's edition the best Boston club he's ever seen. Third baseman Rico Petrocelli, the other veteran, agrees with Yaz. And so do a lot of Red Sox watchers.

Yastrzemski, who played first base all season while the Red Sox were using rookie flash Jim Rice in left field, went back to the outfield for the playoffs after Rice suffered a broken hand in the homestretch of the divisional race. The former Golden Glove outfielder shows no nervousness over the quick switch.

"I can play left field in my sleep," says Boston's acknowledged team leader.

The Red Sox dethroned the A's with dispatch and won't be easy pickings for the Reds, despite the Reds' verbal thunder. The Red Sox are just as adept at defense and had the best hitting team in the American League this season, led by rookie Fred Lynn. The young centerfielder, a dazzling defen-

NET ACTION—Circleville and Teays Valley girls volleyball teams had plenty of action Wednesday on the Tigers court with the Red and Black capturing both the varsity and reserve contests. The strong serving of the Tigers made the difference as the reserves ran their season record to 8-0 and the varsity to 7-1.

CHS Spikers Top TV Girls

Both Circleville's varsity and reserve girls volleyball teams came up with big wins over the girl spikers from Teays Valley Wednesday on the Tigers' court.

The Tiger reserves won 15-8 and 15-4 behind the fine serving of Kathy Fanale and Michelle Nolan. This runs their season mark to 8-0.

Circleville's varsity made it's season record 7-1 when they topped the Vikings in two straight games, 15-5, 15-7.

James Cole, Sue Crist and Darla Hughes were the big guns in the serving department for the Tigers.

"I was quite pleased with the way our girls came back after suffering their first defeat at Greenfield," Circleville coach Joy O'Brien commented.

The Tigers will be at Wilmington 4:30 p.m. Oct. 20.

Dan Issel Acquired By Nuggets

DENVER (AP) — Wheelerdealer Carl Scheer, never content to stand idly by if there are transactions to be made, moved to shore up the Denver Nuggets' weakened center position Wednesday by acquiring veteran Dan Issel from the Baltimore Claws.

In exchange for Issel, Scheer said the Nuggets gave up veteran center-forward Dave Robisch and an undisclosed amount of cash. One source pegged the sum at $600,000.

Issel, a four-time All-Star with the Kentucky Colonels, had been traded three weeks ago to the Claws, a new American Basketball Association franchise. He initially balked at that trade.

Scheer, the Nuggets' president and general manager, announced the acquisition of Issel only 12 hours after receiving news that the team's No. 1 draft choice, 7-foot-1 Marvin Webster, was suffering from a form of hepatitis that would force him to miss all or part of the 1975-76 season. Webster played in only one preseason game before undergoing a series of tests at a Denver hospital.

"You don't get a chance to get a player of Dan Issel's calibre every day," Scheer said. "He really fills a hole with the loss of Marvin."

John Provost of Holy Cross last season led major college players in punt returns. He's second on the career list in interceptions with 27 and holds the career record for interception returns with 470 yards.

Circleville Girls Net Team Wins

Circleville's girls tennis team traveled to Grove City and handed the Greyhounds a 4-1 loss to run the Tigers season record to 3-3.

Sue Radcliff defeated Jill Readout, 7-5, 6-3; Ann Titus lost to Barb Hendricks, 5-7, 6-2, 4-6; Laura Dowd beat Leann McKeon, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Kelly Steele and Rojanne Bowers stopped Sandy England and Dana Skinner, 6-2, 6-2; Donna Milburn and Denise Crawford defeated Annette Waits and Kathy Gutheil, 6-1, 6-2.

Deanna Crawford topped Diane Carson, 6-0, 6-2, in an exhibition match. Circleville will be at London 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Cleveland Browns Sign John Pitts

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have signed veteran safety John Pitts in an effort to bolster the defensive secondary, a spokesman for the National Football League team said Wednesday.

Pitts, released last month by Denver, is playing his ninth season. He started at free safety for Denver midway through last season.

The Browns also announced asking waivers on second-year man Eddie Brown.

Tigers, Aces Remain In Top 10 In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only four regional leaders could retain their status this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's football ratings.

The OHSAA uses the ratings, compiled by a Columbus firm, to determine the semifinalists for its postseason playoffs. The leader in each region qualifies for the semifinals.

Holdover Class AAA leaders are Upper Arlington in Region 2 and Cincinnati Moeller in Region 4 and Newark Catholic in Region 11 and Middletown Fenwick in Region 12 in Class A.

Oregon Stritch made the most dramatic jump among the new pacesetters. The Toledo area Class AA school leaped from 50th a week ago to the No. 1 spot in Region 6.

Cleveland Holy Name vaulted from 17th to first in Region 5 while London went from 19 to one in Class A Region 8, both in Class AA.

East Liverpool made the biggest advance in Class AAA, going from 16th to first in Region 3. Lakewood St. Edward, the big school Region 1 leader, jumped two spots this week.

In Class AA, London advanced one rung to No. 1 in Region 7.

In Class A, Burton Berkshire went from 10th to first in Region 9 and Montpelier one spot to first in Region 10.

The deposed leaders were Warren Harding and New Philadelphia in Class AAA, Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, Norwalk, Louisville Aquinas and Cincinnati Mariemont in Class AA and Windham and Fremont St. Joseph in Class A.

The OHSAA ratings this week, by regions:

Bengals Defense Praised

CINCINNATI (AP)—"This is a jelled unit. We have good people," said Cincinnati Bengals center linebacker Jim LeClair discussing the new stinginess of the defense that has given up but two touchdowns in three games.

"It is still early in the season. I just hope we have statistics like this after the 13th week—the last game," LeClair said.

Cincinnati is atop the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League being unbeaten in three games thus far.

"Not too bad," LeClair said, noting the statistics. The team has given up two touchdowns on the ground and none on pass plays; 595 yards total for a game average of 191.7 yards and sacked opposing quarterbacks seven times for 38 yards and intercepted four passes.

However, special teams have allowed two kick returns for touchdowns and Houston last Sunday sacked quarterback Ken Anderson for a safety. He has been sacked 13 times for 85 yards in losses but Bengals quarterbacks have thrown only two interceptions.

"This is just something that takes time," said LeClair of the maturing Bengals, created in 1968.

"We are playing good team defense. We're not doing anything different this year. It is just that everybody knows what the other guy is doing."

Cincinnati, facing New England here this Sunday, holds victories over Cleveland, Houston and a shutout of New Orleans.

LeClair said the defense was most proud of its goal line defense late in the Houston game in which the Oilers were unable to score in four tries from the one-yard line after a 49-yard pass interference penalty.

"I think we vindicated ourselves on that one," said LeClair, who made the final tackle.

"It was a great line charge, just a devastating thing," he said praising the linemen—Maully Moore, Bob Brown, Ron Carpenter, Ken Johnson and Sherman White.

Battle Of The Balk Seen

CINCINNATI (AP) — A "Battle of the Balk" is brewing for the 1975 World Series.

The Cincinnati Reds are ready to raise a fuss over the delivery of Boston Red Sox pitcher Luis Tiant. Ex-American Leaguer Merv Rettenmund thinks the Reds have a solid case.

"He'd be called for balking if he were in the National League," said Rettenmund, a former hitting star on two Baltimore World Series teams.

The controversy surfaced Wednesday when the Boston Globe reported that Reds Manager Sparky

Anderson sent films to major league officials raising the issue.

Anderson denied sending films, saying the matter "will be up to the umpires and the president of the league."

The Reds, who send young left Don Gullett against Tiant in Saturday's series opener, rely on basestealing as a major weapon in their high-powered offense. Cincinnati set an alltime record with a success percentage over .820 for the season and ran at will against Pittsburgh on the way to a 3-0 sweep in the National League finals.

The Reds stole a record seven bases in the second game against Pittsburgh and finished a perfect 10-for-10.

Rettenmund describes Tiant's move to first base as "lightning fast but he doesn't step, he jumps. You definitely have to come to a stop before going to the plate."

"If they call him for it, we'll get the big leads," he said.

Tiant's trademark is his tenacity, says Rettenmund. "He doesn't throw hard, but his location is exceptional and he has all that herky jerky stuff."

Rettenmund said Cincinnati could have exploited Oakland easier than Boston because Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk is considered "the best defensive catcher in the American League."

"We would rather have played Oakland because all of their catchers were suspect," said Rettenmund, a utility player who came to Cincinnati two seasons ago.

He said there is no chance the Reds will take the Red Sox lightly.

"Every one we've talked to said we are going to be very surprised by Boston. In the past you didn't worry about Boston. They usually beat themselves. But this Boston team is for real," he said.

Griffin And Greene Lead Big Ten Stats

CHICAGO (AP) — Archie Griffin and Cornelius Greene, the big guns in top-ranked Ohio State's attack, lead the Big Ten in rushing and total offense, respectively.

Griffin holds the rushing lead with a 138.2 average with Gordon Bell of Michigan second with a 120.5 average. The only other player averaging over 100 yards a game is Greg Boykin of Northwestern with a 116-yard average.

Greene has a 145.7 average in total offense with Griffin second with 138.2. Randy Dean of Northwestern is third at 133.5 and Kurt Steger of Illinois has a 131.7 average.

Terry Jones of Indiana is the leading passer on a graded system followed by Steger, Tony Dungy of Minnesota, Dean and Greene.

Scott Yelvington of Northwestern leads in pass receptions with 13 while teammate Jim Pooler and Paul Beery of Purdue are tied for second with 11 each.

Pete Johnson of Ohio State is far in front in scoring with 11 touchdowns. Billy Marek of Wisconsin has six. Bob Wood of Michigan is the leading kick scorer with 33 points on nine extra points and eight field goals.

Dave Schick of Iowa is tops in kickoff returns with a 26.1 average and Tom Hannon of Michigan State has a 7.3 average in punt returns, a shade ahead of Tim Fox of Ohio State at 7.1. Dean is the punting leader with a 45.5 average and Tom Skladany of OSU is second at 45.3.

Steve Wagner of Wisconsin leads in interceptions with four while teammate Greg Lewis and Craig Cassidy of Ohio State have three each.

Maryland won all six of its Atlantic Coast Conference football games in 1974 and finished with an 8-4 over-all record.

What happened when these "wall artists" challenged Tru-Test E-Z Kare latex flat enamel?

They got "wiped out."

Can you picture a wall that withstands such stains without need of repainting? These untouched photos make it clear: the entire "exhibition" wiped clean from the E-Z Kare enamel-hard finish. All the stubborn, greasy stains shown here—plus eye shadow, mustard, cheese, egg and charcoal—can't spoil the beauty of Tru-Test E-Z Kare latex flat enamel. Even under hard scrubbing, it retains its original beauty without "shining," rubbing off or fading out. Disastrous stains that mean re-painting with most latex paints simply wash off of E-Z Kare.

Tru-Test E-Z Kare combines the scrubability of enamel with the flat finish of latex. So you can do a whole room, walls and woodwork, with the same paint. Goes on latex-easy, dries in about 20 minutes, tools clean up in soap and water. E-Z Kare latex flat enamel, exclusively from our own Tru-Test Paint Factories. White and custom colors including House & Garden American Watercolors.

The Wash 'n Wear Paint perfect for walls and woodwork. As low as $7.99 per gal.

Tru-Test Paints are sold exclusively by True Value Hardware Stores who own their own paint factories. Look under "Paint—Tru-Test" in the classified phone directory.

Tarlton News

There will be a council meeting at St. Jacob's Lutheran Church on Sunday following the morning worship service.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet in the social room on Sunday evening at 6.

Mr. and Mrs. David Owens and sons Terry and Davy of Whitehall were last weekend guests of Mrs. Letha Murray and Tessie.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer and Marvin Reichelderfer of Tarlton and Miss Carolyn Reichelderfer and Al O'Rvan of Columbus attended the wedding and reception which followed, of Miss Susan Reichelderfer and Tom Shea, at the St. Joseph Church in Circleville on Saturday.

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer.

The cookbooks, completed by the ladies auxiliary of the volunteer fire department, are available and may be purchased from any of the auxiliary women.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Richard Ballard were Mrs. Viola Hartranft, Mrs. Joe Jenkins and Joel Duvall.

Mrs. Lenna Turvey was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawks and family of Circleville.

Mrs. Letha Murray entertained Sunday evening with a birthday party honoring her daughter Teresa on her 16th birthday.

Those present were the honored guest, Cindy and Mindy Herron, Joan Good, Ben Swackhammer, Teresa Newman, Debbie Jarrell, Mike Brannon, Rick Brown, Randy Strous, Mark Bowman, Jeff Collins and Tim Fouch.

Mrs. Marie Pine, Mrs. Fay Pine and Mrs. Pauline Pearce hosted the October meeting of the United Methodist Women in the church social room on Wednesday afternoon.

Members sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and Mrs. Lucia Spangler used the topic "How to Pray and Be Heard by God" as her theme for devotions.

Fay Pine conducted the meeting during which Mrs. Lillie Morrison was welcomed as an honorary member. Plans were made for the annual bazaar which will be held at the church on Nov. 6 at 1:30 p.m.

September birthday donations were made by Beulah Hinton, Anna Hay and Alvina Judy and October donations by Marie Pine, Cathy Weaver and Helen Welch.

Marie Pine gave a reading on George Washington taken from an old Jones Reader. Ruth Hunt read "How Grandma Made Soap," Mabel Cox read "Puritan Poetry" and Pauline Pearce read "In the Autumn." A "Scenic Historical American Quiz" was won by Betty McJunkin.

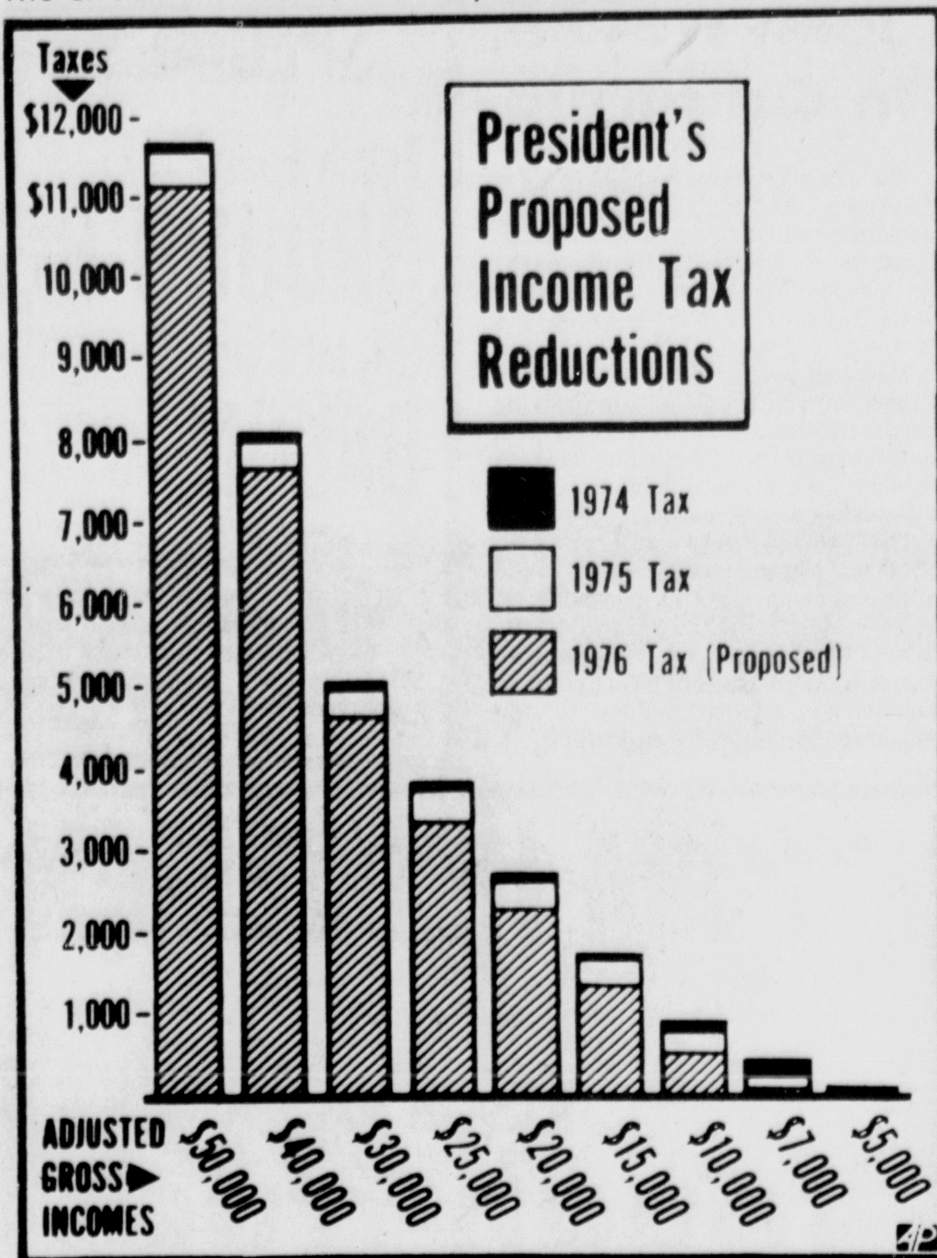

In keeping with the Bicentennial theme, the refreshment tables were centered with many interesting antiques.

Seventeen members and three guests attended the meeting.

Death Penalty Levied In Slaying Of Guard

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ellis Shelton, 39, Cincinnati, has been sentenced to die in the electric chair Feb. 9 for the shotgun slaying of a Pinkerton guard, Lloyd Adkins, 59, in a tavern robbery Nov. 7, 1974.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Lyle Castle pronounced sentence Wednesday after declaring there were no mitigating circumstances to prevent the death penalty.

PROPOSED TAX CUT—Chart shows how much a wage earner would save if the tax cuts proposed by President Ford are adopted by Congress. The cuts, amounting to $28 billion would be put into effect only if Congress agrees to cut federal spending. The chart is for a family with two dependants.

Inside Information Charges Denied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charges that Ohio's foreign office in Germany improperly provided a Cincinnati firm with tips on possible international business deals have thus far gone unsubstantiated, a development department spokesman says.

"We find the allegations haven't been substantiated," said Charles Bolton, chief of the Office of International Trade.

Bolton said a former employee of Intervest Corp. of Cincinnati, told the economic and community development department last June that Intervest had received advance "insider" information from the state's trade office in Dusseldorf.

The information was contained in copies of U.S. State Department telegrams, naming foreign companies interested in doing business with American firms, Bolton said. The "Trade Leads" are not classified and are regularly made available to all interested Ohio companies, he noted.

Development director James A. Duerk said Charles E. Shields, assistant director of the Dusseldorf office, had denied the accusation.

However, Duerk confirmed that Shields had been the beneficiary of a vacation in Scotland, which was paid for in part by David L. Bryant, Intervest's former European management director, and the man making the charges.

Shields, who has agreed to pay for the vacation in full, is resigning from the state job effective Friday, Bolton said. Both Bolton and Duerk declined to link his departure to the allegations.

Bolton said he did not intend at this time to ask for an investigation by any law enforcement agency, although he said the state auditor's office had been informed of the Intervest situation.

A spokesman for Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said the German office would be checked, but only as part of a routine audit of the entire development department. An auditor's investigation is not appropriate unless there is a charge of misuse of state funds, he said.

The department operates small offices in Dusseldorf and Brussels, Belgium to promote exports from Ohio companies and attract foreign business to the state.

Bolton said Intervest apparently was no longer in operation. Bryant could not be reached for comment.

Physical Fitness Gala Scheduled

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A "physical fitness gala" will be presented by the University of Toledo Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the university's field house.

It is part of the two-day Midwest Regional Clinic on Physical Fitness and Sports to be held at the university Friday and Saturday.

Spanish Police Arrest Officers

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Police investigating sedition in the military have arrested three army officers, well-informed sources reported today.

The three were arrested Wednesday night in this city on Spain's northeastern Mediterranean coast, where police have been battling a terrorist offensive for seven months.

They were the first military arrests since police discovered an underground cell of dissident army officers in Madrid two months ago and arrested nine officers on sedition charges.

Coal Mine Plans Come To Halt

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Development plans for a new coal mine have been dropped because of lack of funds, Appalachian Power Co. said Wednesday.

The utility said it could not raise its share of a $30 million joint mine venture with Valley Camp Coal Co. at Cedar Grove in Kanawha County. Plans for the new mine were announced in February 1974.

Appalachian had planned to use the coal from the mine at its new generating plant at New Haven in Mason County. That plant was to be running by 1978 but construction work was suspended earlier this year, also because of a shortage of money. Appalachian has said the expense of meeting air quality standards and regulatory agency reluctance to approve new rates has accounted for the money lack.

Merciful Death Nixed By Hospital

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — The parents of a 17-year-old youth who is in a coma say they want their son to die "mercifully" but the hospital where the boy is staying has refused their plea.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Carmen of Wellington want the administration at Elyria Memorial Hospital to take their son, Randal, off a respirator which is keeping him alive.

James C. Brown, the hospital administrator, said that hospital policy is that "we do everything in our power to maintain lifesaving procedures regardless of the condition of the patient." He said the hospital will try to keep the boy alive until all vital signs have disappeared.

"He's dead," the youth's father said. "He's been dead for two weeks."

The boy was injured during a pickup football game in a friend's yard on Sept. 21. He finished the game but complained of a headache when he returned home, his parents said.

Fire Chief Urges Home Fire Drills

Fire drills can be fun for the entire family says R. E. Featheringham, chief of the Harrison Township Fire Department. Featheringham has offered seven simple rules for escape from a home fire.

Close all doors because they can hold back both flames and smoke.

Use chair legs to remove window panes, learn how to go out a window.

Exit onto ledges and porches if possible.

Make plans for the escape of invalids and infants.

Once out, have a meeting place, call the fire department, do not go back into the burning building.

This is fire prevention week and Featheringham urges all families to have a home fire drill now. He advises timing the escape and tells everyone to remember smoke is the killer.

In case of emergency in Harrison, Walnut, or Madison Townships, call the Harrison Fire Department at 474-2176.

Ohio Heifer Wins Show Honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-year-old heifer, from Carruthers farm near Cincinnati, was judged Wednesday Grand Champion cow and senior champion at the All American Jersey Show and Sale.

Sleeper Valiant Babe, exhibited by Mrs. Thomas H. Carruthers III of Glendale, also placed first in the Three-Year-Old class.

The Jersey show, the largest single breed competition in North America, winds up Thursday at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

More than 600 entries from 20 states and Canada have competed for $20,000 in premium money.

The boy lapsed in a coma while X-rays were being taken. He was operated on at the hospital and his parents said they waited nearly a week for a "miracle" to happen.

Besides the respirator, the youth is being kept alive by a machine that controls his body temperature and tubes that pump food in his body.

Randal's case resembles that of Karen A. Quilan, 21, who has been in a coma for five months in a Denville, N.J., hospital. Her parents have requested the hospital to let her die, but the state has raised legal objections.

"We want legislation to make a decision on what constitutes death," Carmen said about his son's condition. "To me if the brain is gone, that is death."

Dr. George Dakters, a neurosurgeon who operated on the Carmen youth, said, "I think modern technology has outstripped the legal system. With this age of transplantation, the matter will have to go to the courts and be changed."

He said lack of brain activity, such as exhibited by Randal, is generally accepted as death in most medical centers. But he added that the "law as I understand it, is that as long as there is a heart beat it is not death."

Carmen said it took a lot of strength for him and his wife to make their decision. "We talked to a lot of preachers and prayed a lot...I don't think parents should have to go through this."

Reward Offered In Bomb Attempt

ABERDEEN, Ohio (AP) — UCON, Inc., a construction subsidiary of the Dayton Power & Light Co., has offered a $10,000 reward for information concerning a bombing attempt at one employee's home.

Jerry Morgan, a spokesman for DP&L, said a bomb was found last Friday in a closet of a home being constructed by Shelby Frye. The homemade device consisting of a plastic bottle filled with gasoline, three sticks of dynamite and a flashlight battery did not go off.

Morgan said it was the third such incident since May 18 when an incendiary bomb was found in an employee's home near Manchester. That bomb also did not go off.

But an incendiary bomb went off on Aug. 14 in another employee's home, causing about $1,000 damage, Morgan said.

Water Supply Improves At City Of Oxford

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Oxford, Ohio authorities reported the water supply situation was improved but urged residents to continue conservation efforts until reservoirs are filled.

City manager Lee Davis blamed dry weather combined with heavy usage for failure of one of two rain water collectors, an underground silo type well, with causing the shortage.

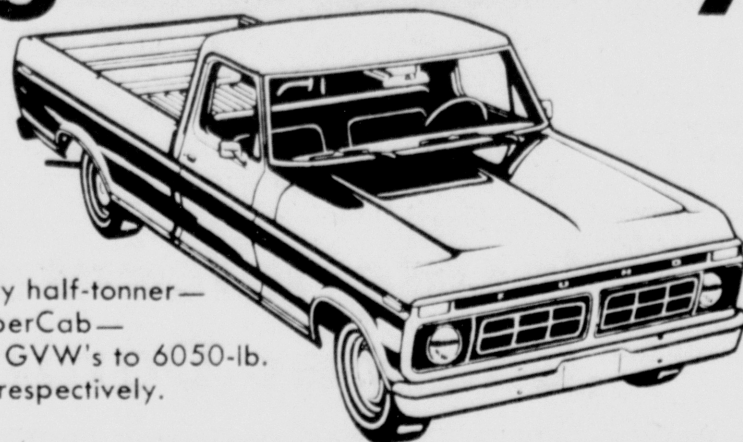

Miami University, industry and households were asked to voluntarily curtail water usage during the emergency.

GOOD THRU SUNDAY

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A new light thrown upon certain situations should prime you for fine advantages in the offing. Rouse yourself to work for the attainment which requires more than the usual vigor.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Persons with whom you deal will not all feel up to par; some are working under strain. Offer a helpful word; it will help. Expend efforts effectively.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): There may be some problem areas in teaching, writing and (or) research, but matters can be worked out if you are calm and meticulous. New advantages if you search.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A fine period for setting new records, aiming at new goals. Express yourself lucidly, gently, but definitely. Leave no room for misunderstandings or doubts.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't fall short of the mark through heedlessness or neglect of "minor details. Some misleading influences prevalent. But don't suspect everyone or everything. Be at ease.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Mostly favorable influences. Do not let pressures or tensions hamper steady, well-tempered action. Especially favored: job and financial affairs.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your artistic touch will be needed for the "bare spots." And do be practical about fundamentals, domestic concerns, children's affairs. Don't harbor prejudices.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A few flies in the ointment — perhaps a setback or disappointment? Be as stalwart as your capable self is able and you will bring in happy returns, help to counteract opposition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid a tendency to overdo things. Stars promise advancement if you are resourceful and accurate, but you must have a definite plan. Don't rush into undertakings unprepared.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Continue work on worthwhile projects even if you are temporarily bored. Don't go off on tangents just to relieve tedium and DO retain confidence in your goals and your ability to attain them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your outlook similar to that of Capricorn. Even if things slow down a bit, keep going! Prospects brightening in several areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day for watching-and-waiting, yet it calls for action sufficient enough to keep you from getting bogged down with doubts or indecisiveness. Routine matters will fare best.

YOU BORN TODAY are versatile, energetic, deliberate in your thinking and highly independent — too much so, at times. You have a tendency to "lash out" when displeased. Control this; also an insistence on doing things in your own way without consulting others concerned. You are unusually sympathetic. You understand the misunderstanding, but not always yourself. Many fields are open to you career-wise, but notably along artistic and professional lines. You make excellent musicians, actors, writers, designers and landscape gardeners. Professionally, you could excel as lawyer, physician or statesman. Birthdate of: Giuseppe Verdi, Ital. composer; Helen Hayes, Amer. actress.

Canadiens Blast Kings; Win Tilt 9-0

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The game had been billed as a forecast of the James Norris Division first-place race: the Los Angeles Kings against the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League season opener for both clubs.

If it was, in fact, a preview of things to come, there's trouble on the West Coast. The Canadiens destroyed the Kings 9-0, with four players scoring two goals apiece and goalie Ken Dryden stopping a Bart Crashley penalty shot.

"It didn't look like the same Los Angeles team," offered Dryden, who stopped 29 shots on the way to the first shutout of the 59th NHL season. "That's enough errors by a team for three or four games."

All the scoring Wednesday night was by the Canadiens, who took a giant stride towards matching the league-leading 374 goals they collected last year. Jim Roberts, Guy Lafleur, Jacques Lemaire and Bob Gainey had two goals apiece for Montreal, and Yvan Cournoyer had the other for Montreal, which took 48 shots on Kings' goalie Rogatien Vachon and netted six shots in the third period.

Ten other clubs opened their NHL seasons Wednesday night, as the California Seals surprised the Atlanta Flames 4-3, the St. Louis Blues tied the Detroit Red Wings 1-1, the Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers tied 2-2, the Kansas City Scouts and New York Islanders tied 1-1, and the Vancouver Canucks edged the Minnesota North Stars 3-2.

Among the many people seeking the Northwest Passage was Britain's Sir John Franklin. His two ships were last reported entering Lancaster Sound on July 26, 1845.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — We all know how ratings usually determine the life or death of a television series. But ever wonder how the networks decide which new series might click on TV, aside from fortune-teller visits?

Well, a fascinating part of the process involves the showing of a series pilot to a live audience — before the show airs nationally — and asking said audience what they like or dislike about the program.

Only CBS says it recruits its own screening-room audiences. It dispatches ticket-bearing pages here and in Los Angeles to ask folks if they'd like to see what could become a new TV series.

NBC — which also conducts cable-TV-only audience tests — and ABC rely on outside testing firms for their screening-room testing, usually hiring a Los Angeles company called ASI Market Research, Inc.

Jay Eliasberg, CBS' vice president for research, says screening-room testing of possible series goes on year-round at his network, with the average screening room audience numbering about 20 viewers.

He says each person is given a machine on which to register favorable or unfavorable reactions during a show. Viewers also fill out questionnaires about the show, and discuss it afterwards with CBS officials.

After that, he says, "we analyze those reactions to try to determine whether we think the show will be successful and what can be done to improve it."

ASI, which has no direct say in a network's decision on a potential series, does pretty much what CBS does in recording the reactions of a test audience to pilot shows. However, ASI says it alone recruits its screening-room audiences, doing this both by phone and by sending interviewers to areas of heavy pedestrian traffic, such as shopping centers.

The company's per-show audience is much larger than that of CBS — it says it averages 400 viewers per show — and only Los Angeles residents are invited to its screenings. Out-of-towners are deliberately excluded.

Why? "Well, what we're trying to do is hold what is called a laboratory situation," says Roger Seltzer, a top ASI executive. "In a laboratory, you try to hold as many variables as possible constant, aside from the one you're testing."

"And we've found that when you get tourists, you introduce a variable that's tough to control."

He rejects the contention — usually made by Manhattan loons — that Los Angeles is the loon capital of the world. In fact, he says, "we've found it to be a very good test market for this kind of thing, because you have a very homogenous group living here, many people who've come here from elsewhere in the country, or first-generation residents. And either they or their families have brought with them the attitudes that exist in many other places in the country."

"So it is a good microcosm for doing testing on which you can base some national

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

National Collegiate Playoffs Opposed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Representatives of at least four major conferences appear set to oppose formation of a long-awaited national collegiate football playoff for large schools.

But the president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which announced Wednesday it will put the matter to a vote, says such opposition should be weighed.

"We, the members of the council, are merely forwarding the proposal for a vote by members of Division 1 (large schools)," said John A. Fuzak of Michigan State, president of the 707-member NCAA.

"But I think it would be very difficult for that group, that committee, to speak for the institutions they represent," Fuzak added in reference to opposition The Associated Press learned exists.

Fuzak, who is also chairman of the NCAA's policy-making council, declined to give a breakdown of the vote among a 17-member football championship feasibility committee which recommended the playoff.

Prior to the Wednesday announcement, however, the AP learned that the tabulation was 8-4 for advancement of the proposal, with five committee members absent from a meeting last weekend.

The opposition to such a recommendation, it was learned, came from faculty representative Marcus L. Plant of Michigan, Big Ten Conference; athletic director J. D. Morgan of UCLA, Pac-8 Conference; Commissioner Boyd McWhorter of the Southeastern Conference and Alan Chapman of Rice, Southwest Conference.

Those in favor of advancing the proposal were said to include athletic director Ernest C. Casale of Temple, the feasibility committee chairman, and the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of Notre Dame.

Also casting affirmative votes, the AP learned, were athletic directors James R. "Bud" Jack of Utah, Seaver Peters of Dartmouth and Homer Rice of North Carolina along with Robert C. James, commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, and faculty representative Edwin L. Saxer of Toledo.

Jerry Heard Must Face Golden Bear

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I don't know if I can handle the Bear," said Jerry Heard, looking at his assignment today against Jack Nicklaus in the $117,500 International All-Star golf matches.

The whistling Heard, a fourtime tour winner, earned the semifinal shot at Nicklaus after a pair of narrow triumphs Wednesday.

Pickaway County History Of WCTU Is Compiled By Director And President

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following history of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Pickaway County was prepared in cooperation with the Bicentennial Commission Women's Organizations Committee. The history was compiled by Nona Hankins, state director of Christian Outreach and Helen Knece, county president.

The following history of Women's Christian Temperance Union of Pickaway County was compiled by Nona Hankins, state director of Christian Outreach, and Helen Knece, president.

In the early days of Pickaway County, sobriety and temperance were the exception rather than the rule. Distilleries converted the native corn into whiskey which found a ready market both at home and abroad. It was the custom to serve whiskey with meals at taverns and the man who abstained wholly from the use of liquor was rare.

The distilleries disappeared as a market for the corn was secured and a temperance sentiment was begun, which finally crystallized in the organization of lodges of "Sons Of Temperance" and "Independent Order Of Good Templars Societies" which flourished from 30 to 40 years. The work was then taken up by the women who in the Ohio Crusade of 1873 brought about the desired reforms and the WCTU was organized.

The following account of the work of WCTU in Pickaway County was written by Miss Josie R. Hewitt of Darbyville who served 14 consecutive times as county president.

WCTU was organized in South Bloomfield in 1890. It has steadily grown in interest and kept in touch with state, national and world work, being the largest organization of women in the world. A bow of white ribbon links together this organized army of Christian women. It works along many lines to secure better laws, better living, better men and women, and better homes and stands for the overthrow of liquor traffic, listed as the direct cause of nine-tenths of the evil in the world. The WCTU motto is "For God And Home And Every Land."

Two-hundred members were first enrolled with a "Loyal Temperance Legion" for children. Unions were then organized in Ashville, Commercial Point and New Holland. On Aug. 25, 1893, the Pickaway County Convention was held at the Darbyville Camp-ground and unions were organized in Williamsport and Five Points.

Circleville, one of the Ohio towns touched by the fire of the Crusade, would not let the spirit of war against the saloons die down and so other cities became involved. On Sept. 28, 1895, the Circleville Union was organized by Miss Hewitt on the 56th birthday of Frances Williards, president of the national foundation of WCTU.

In the history of the organization Circleville had important parts in the work and entertained the Fifth State Convention in 1878. Lizzie Blackstone and Abbie Gusman were two of the earliest presidents of the Circleville union. In 1896 a union was organized in Pherson and one in 1901 at Atlanta, and in Tarlton and Orient in 1905. Miss Valerie Hixson was the first president in Pickaway County.

Present day members have a motto of "Agitate And Legislate," with particular emphasis on laws being introduced to educate members as to the nature of them.

A general reactivating of WCTU took place in 1940 when Mrs. Mary Harpster of Kingston became president of Pickaway County Union and served five years with Mrs. Bess Allen of 523 E. Franklin St., serving as corresponding secretary. Mrs. Margaret Gard of 226 E. Franklin St., served as officer in charge of the teenage YTC. Mrs. Fannie Greeno is listed many times as soloist for most meetings.

Carpet rags and cushion covers were sent to the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Dayton, and numerous layettes were made by members and distributed where most needed. Money was given to the Red Cross and blood donors were secured. Many stock sale dinners were served to raise money for the organization.

One road sign was purchased for the county and two sets of books were placed in the Public Library and Bookmobile. Books on alcohol education were placed in each school in the county. Quilts were made selling spaces for names at a charge of 10 cents and patches were sewn on newly made aprons at the same charge. Four thousand blotters were given to schools.

Mrs. Florence Haughn served as president several times and was instrumental in giving thousands of cancer pads to Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe.

Mrs. Nona Hankins president from 1969-1972, organized women to place five books on alcohol and narcotics in school libraries and furnished packets of this material to teachers in public schools. Along with subscriptions of "Listen" magazine in schools, 300 temperance lessons were distributed in Sunday School Classes under her direction. Mrs. Helen Knece, who served as vice-president, secured Jack Mills of the Circleville Police Department as a speaker for Salem

Methodist Youth Fellowship. Petitions were collected and sent to get prayer back in schools, HR Bill 8388.

Mrs. Helen Knece who now holds the presidency of Pickaway County WCTU is concerned about drugs. The county unions have distributed 150 pamphlets to parents about what they should know about the different types of drugs, their usage and effects. Three books, "Straight Days On Drugs," "The Sky Is Falling" and "Whiskey At The Wheel" were given to Logan Elm High School along with lung specimens showing healthy and those injured by smoking and drinking. Over 11,309 articles of good used clothing were distributed to low income families along with canned foods, fresh vegetables etc.

One member walked to distribute 59 New Testaments for Key 73 project and spent 60 hours in homes caring for the sick. All unions visited rest homes and distributed fruit to the residents during the Christmas season. Five Points Union placed books on alcohol, drug and tobacco in a high school to be used in social studies, science and education.

Petitions protesting misuse of sex and violence on television were sent to legislators and petitions and articles relating to the Ohio Lottery were sent to newspapers and other media.

Members helped collect and trim Betty Crocker coupons for redemption to be applied to purchase of two hospital and three home machines for kidney dialysis, and they helped send 10 youth to Teenage School on Alcohol and Drugs at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Over $250 has been collected over the past two years for victims of fires and floods. Many carry-in dinners provided for shut-ins. Mrs. Hankins, a member of Salem Union and past president of Pickaway County, is serving as Christian Outreach Director of the state.

The following were originally organized Women's Christian Temperance Unions: Ashville, Atlanta, Circleville, Commercial Point, Derby, Five Points, New Holland, Orient, Salem, Walnut Twp., and Williamsport.

Congress Ready To OK Technicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, about to begin a week's Columbus Day vacation, is expected to stamp final approval on a resolution that will place American technicians at electronic detection posts in the Sinai desert.

The proposal, part of the United States commitment in the Sinai peace accord between Israel and Egypt, was given overwhelming approval Wednesday by the House, which added an amendment to bar the use of U.S. military forces in the region. The resolution was approved 341 to 69.

Hopes Rise In Irish Kidnaping

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP) — Hopes rose today that kidnaped Dutch businessman Tiede Herrema is still alive after his company received "new demands" from the gang which abducted and threatened to kill him.

Executives at the Dutch-owned Ferenka steel factory on the outskirts of Limerick said the kidnapers telephoned them Wednesday night using a code word that indicated the 53-year-old Herrema is alive.

"We're satisfied the call was authentic," a Ferenka spokesman said.

He declined to disclose the "new demands," but Ferenka's parent firm, Azko, has offered to pay a ransom for Herrema and fly the kidnapers out of Ireland in a company jet.

The spokesman stressed Ferenka wants the kidnapers to provide "strong positive evidence" Herrema is unharmed before it makes any deal.

Informed sources reported, however, that Ferenka officials appeared to be convinced that proof will be provided soon and a deal made, provided the Irish government approves.

"We hope Dr. Herrema will be back home with his family by the weekend," the spokesman told newsmen at the factory where executives are keeping a round-the-clock vigil by the telephone.

Mental Technique Fights Illnesses

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Biofeedback, a technique that "is still pretty much of a mystery," is curing chronic psychosomatic illnesses by teaching patients to tap power within their own minds, doctors reported at a national medical seminar.

Speakers at the first National Congress on Integrative Health said Wednesday that patients using biofeedback have learned to alter their blood pressure, stop migraine headaches and control asthma attacks simply by concentration.

"Biofeedback is the yoga of the west," said Dr. Elmer Green, head of the psychophysiology laboratory at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan., an institution pioneering research in the technique.

He said biofeedback harnesses "the placebo effect," the well-documented phenomenon of patients improving merely from suggestion after taking a fake medicine.

"The placebo effect is one of the most powerful things known to medicine," said Dr. Green. "That power hasn't been utilized."

Biofeedback uses sensors that monitor a patient's skin temperature, brain function or nerve action. These signals are amplified and then displayed on a dial. The patient is shown the dial reading and told to change it simply by concentration.

Dr. Green said that patients, in effect, are taught to consciously affect some bodily functions which normally are controlled by the unconscious mind.

A high rate of success of the technique has been shown for psychosomatic illnesses, or ailments with a mental instead of physical origin. Dr. Green claims that 50 to 80 per cent of all medical complaints originate from psychological stress.

Dr. Arthur E. Gladman, a California psychiatrist, reported he has used biofeedback to treat successfully such disorders as migraine headache, Raynaud's Disease (a circulatory disorder), asthma, peptic ulcer and chronic pain. He said he has used the technique on 175 patients and experienced some degree of success with each one, but he admits "biofeedbacks is still pretty much of a mystery."

His patients ranged in age from 11 to 84 and all had ailments caused by some type of emotional and psychological stress.

He said that often the beneficial effects went far beyond the original complaint.

"Many patients feel they are at the control of outside forces," said the psychiatrist. "When they develop a way to control internal forces, they develop a new awareness of self. It enables individuals to view the world in a new way."

The reports came on the first day of the meeting, sponsored by the Academy of Parapsychology and Medicine. It has attracted doctors from 30 states.
